$1.5 Million Air Terminal Now Set for Patricia Bay

ALMOST IN ORBIT

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X-15 today rocketed an air force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The new mark: 131,000 feet.

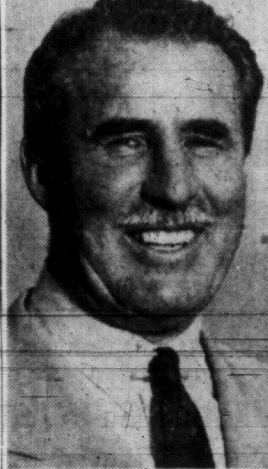

Maj. Robert M. White (at right) pointed the sleek black dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until his fuel was exhausted. The four-minute burst vaulted him to the nearly-airless edge of space.

Katanga Greets UN Chief Dag Lands in Try To Settle Crisis

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (Reuters)—Dag Hammarskjöld arrived here by air today at the head of 300 Swedish United Nations troops in a bid to settle the international crisis caused by Katanga's secessionist regime.

Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe staged the best military show he could for the UN secretary-general.

Transport Chief Announces Plan On Visit Here

By JOHN MIKA

A $1,500,000 new terminal development will be built at Patricia Bay Airport, Federal Transport Minister George Hees announced here today.

The project, expected to be put out for tenders next spring, will include an $815,000 terminal-control tower building five storeys tall.

Approximately double the size of the present terminal, the new building will be located on the south side of the airfield with access to it from Willingdon Road, at the intersection of Cresswell—midway between the Patricia Bay Highway and West Saanich Road.

Additional facilities, such as an aircraft parking apron to handle four Viscount-size airliners, taxicabs, lighting, roads and car park, will cost about $750,000.

But there are no plans at present to lengthen the airport's runways, said Mr. Hees. He made the announcement on the airport tarmac after a Department of Transport Viscount turbo-prop landed while flying him from Kelowna to Nanaimo where he was to address a businessmen's gathering.

PLANS DRAWN
Plans for the new terminal are being drawn up now by Victoria architectural firm Wade, Stockhill and Armour.

The main portion of the building will be two storeys high, surmounted by a narrower portion comprising two additional floors and topped by a glass-enclosed air traffic control tower.

A single-storey building housing government offices required for international traffic—customs, health and immigration—will be linked to the terminal by an enclosed walkway.

Construction period is expected to be 18 months. Tenders are to be called "around the latter part of the present fiscal year" which ends in March.

Deputy transport minister J. R. Baldwin said the new facilities will "satisfy Victoria's needs until at least 1970."

Asked if longer runways to handle jet aircraft would be planned for the airport, Mr. Hees replied:

"You will have your runways extended when there is a demonstrated need for them. That goes for all airports in the country."

"You have demonstrated a need for a better terminal and you will get it. But we have had no indication from any airline that it needed longer runways here."

"I want to make it clear there is a very adequate airport here and we intend to keep it that way. I'm not fooling when I say we are just as interested in Victoria's airport as in any other airport."

The new terminal will be 260 feet long and 75 feet wide. The customs and immigration building will be 100 by 50 feet.

CURTAIN WALL
The terminal will be of curtain wall construction on steel framework. It will be in the general shape of a pyramid.

The main floor will be laid out to provide easy movement of passenger traffic with entrances, ticketing concourse and waiting rooms located to prevent conflict between incoming and outgoing traffic.

The upper storeys will contain administrative offices and quarters for aviation services such as telecommunications, meteorology and air traffic control.

A spectators' deck for the public will be established above the main floor on the airfield side of the building to provide a vantage point for viewing aircraft take-offs and landings.

The existing control tower and terminal will be converted to other uses, it is expected.

The transport minister officially opened the rejuvenated Kelowna airport Thursday and stopped here briefly to make his announcement. He was to return here from Nanaimo later today to pick up some members of his party and immediately fly back to Ottawa.

Premier Bennett Wednesday said he would ask the PUC to postpone the hearing until after the Sept. 12 election.

WIRE BRIEFS

Laotians Negotiate

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Rebel government negotiations continued here today as the paratroop chief of Vientiane's "pocket coupe" called for the appointment of a neutralist premier.

Gas Endangers Town

LA PORTE, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this seaport town began dropping on the streets today from what authorities said was gas escaping from a chemical plant. The plant shut down immediately, and the danger was declared ended.

Cabinet Changes Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—One or two cabinet changes will be made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker after his ministers have had time for a post-session vacation, informed sources said today.

Reject Soviet Charges

LONDON (UPI)—The Big Three Western powers today firmly rejected Russian charges that West Berlin is being utilized for military preparation. In notes delivered in Moscow they charged the Communists with illegal actions in East Berlin and urged the Soviet Union to end them.

Cuba Cuts Travel

HAVANA (UPI)—The Fidel Castro government today cancelled all existing travel permits out of the country for both Cubans and foreigners, except tourists, in a move informed sources said was aimed at cracking down on the mass exodus of anti-Castro elements from the islands.

5 Die in RAF Crash

HURRINGWORTH, England (UPI)—A British Valiant jet bomber crashed in flames near here today, killing five crewmen.

First reports said the big four-jet bomber crashed while attempting a landing on an unused airfield outside Hurringworth.

Wreck Blocks PGE Line

VANCOUVER (CP)—The engine of a Pacific Great Eastern freight train toppled into a hollow 130 miles north of here Thursday night when a small wooden bridge was weakened by a forest fire.

The PGE said no one was injured and that crews expected to move fill into the small hollow for a bypass. The line is expected to be reopened in about 24 hours.

GIANT LINER SAILING CANCELLED

Seamen's Strike Strands Thousands

LONDON (Reuters)—The use of the liner Queen Mary was postponed after part of the crew walked off. Some estimates of the cost of cancellation of the round trip go as high as $1,400,000.

Most British ports were hit by the strike, staged in defiance of the authorized union on the grounds an agreed wages and hours settlement was not generous enough.

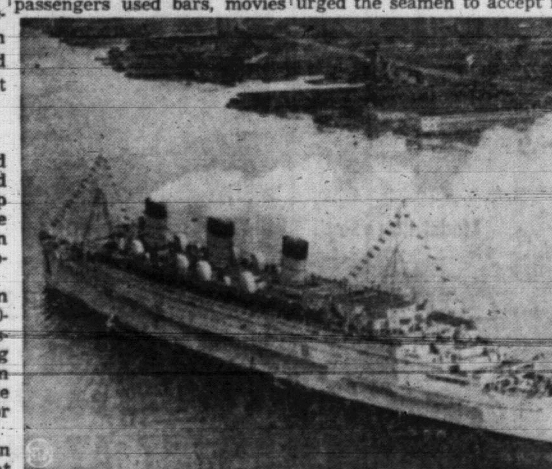

DELAY WARNING
At Liverpool, Canadian and American passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific flag ship Empress of Britain were warned that the 25,500-ton liner's scheduled sailing to-night might be delayed.

In Glasgow, two seamen were arrested aboard the 7,000-ton British ore carrier Lindisfarne and charged with failing to obey a lawful order from the captain. The Lindisfarne sailed without them for Canada.

One of the Southampton strikers said earlier today that "if we can hold the Queen Mary, it is a symbol of our strength."

Life aboard the vessel Thursday night was almost normal, except for an abbreviated menu. Hundreds of lights illuminated the giant liner as passengers used bars, movies and most other conveniences of the ship.

The strike started Wednesday to back demands for a monthly wage increase equivalent to about $11. Shipping officials offered $7 and the union urged the seamen to accept it.

Satellite, Biggest Yet Put in Orbit

U.S. Balloon, 10 Storeys High,
Already Bouncing Messages Back

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States sent a giant communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signalled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the United States.

The new space messenger, a balloon high as a 10-storey building, was rocketed up from this missile test centre at 2:39 a.m., PDT.

Slightly more than two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was successfully in orbit.

Then at 7:10 a.m., less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the president was played back at a press conference in Washington.

LOUD AND CLEAR
The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N.J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said:
"This is President Eisenhower speaking:

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo."

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration."

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind."

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests."

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago."

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and other experiments in its program of space exploration."

COAST GUARD IN NOSE
The huge reflector rode collapsed in the nose cone of a three-stage Thor-Delta rocket toward a path intended to take it whirling around the earth in a nearly circular pattern 1,000 miles high, about once every two hours.

That meant not only that the rocket booster had carried out its mission but that the balloon itself, dubbed Echo No. I, had been ejected at the chosen height and had been inflated to carry out its mission as a backdrop for bouncing radio signals between distant points.

The 100-foot sphere was designed to prove the feasibility of using satellites for worldwide telephone, radio and television.

BIGGEST SATELLITE
The big ball was the largest, but not the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft. The Russians have launched sputniks almost up to five tons in weight.

The plane, one of five headed back for their Rivers, Man. base, touched off a two-acre forest fire when it crashed, hampering search efforts.

The men were identified as Lieut. David Hessin, 24, whose father lives in Toronto, and Lieut. Bill Arnold, whose family is at the Canadian Joint air training centre at Rivers.

Lieut. Hessin was single, Lieut. Arnold married.

The plane was on the first leg of its trip, from Hope to Penticton in the B.C. interior.

Space Capsule Recovered Step Towards 'Spy-in-Sky'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U.S. satellite was on its way to Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule—the first success in 13 attempts—the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with Russia.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific about 200 miles west of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A navy frogman, bosun's mate Robert Carroll of Keene, N.H., plunged from the helicopter into the ocean to secure a line to the capsule and probably become the first man to touch a man-made object back from an orbit in space.

The 22-year-old sailor braved 12-foot-high swells to fasten the line and the copter hoisted the capsule aboard by a winch.

The air force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C-119s but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the satellite-recovery ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule, buoyed with steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C-119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

Work on Next Commons Session Already Under Way

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's lawmakers have already begun to warm up the leftovers for next session of Parliament.

Commons officials say that even before Parliament prorogued late Wednesday night they started to receive draft bills and resolutions from back-bench MPs to go on the Commons agenda for next session.

When Parliament took its recess, 55 private members' bills died on the Commons order paper, including the controversial measure introduced by Frank McGee (PC—York-Scarborough) to abolish hanging for murder. It was withdrawn just before the session ended. Of the other 54, 49 never even reached the stage of debate.

Mr. McGee said he would wait a few days before resubmitting his bill for next session. Commons Clerk Leon J. Raymond put all bills and resolutions submitted during the recess into a common pot and they are drawn in the presence of the government and opposition party whips at 12 noon on the day Parliament opens its new session to establish the order of precedence.

The 49 bills which were introduced during the past session, but got no further, ranged in subject matter from capital to corporal punishment, banking to river pollution.

Two government bills were purposely allowed to die on the order paper. A revision of the Civil Service Act and Income Tax Act amendments dealing with deferred profit-sharing plans were introduced and allowed to stand over until next session so government and opposition parties could receive briefs from individuals and national associations interested in them.

NASSAU, Bahamas—No, said Chief Justice L. A. W. Orr when Delmar McKenzie appealed from a six-month jail sentence for dangerous driving.

"But this man was only married two hours ago," pleaded McKenzie's lawyer.

Orr granted McKenzie a two-week reprieve to "permit him to get acquainted with his bride."

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A boy, replying to radio station KHOD's offer of a prize for news tips, called Thursday with a story about a youth being bitten by a dog.

Trying to establish where it happened, the reporter asked where the youth was bitten. "In the seat," the tipster said.

John Kennedy Minimum Wage Bill Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans opened fire Thursday on Senator John Kennedy's bill to increase the minimum wage in the United States to $1.25 an hour and extend the coverage of the wage-hour law to 5,000,000 additional workers.

The controversial measure is the first that Kennedy has been called on to pilot through the Senate since his nomination last month as the Democratic presidential candidate for the November U.S. election.

Thieves got the message Thursday.

Police said the window was shattered and five of the six $1 bills on advertising display were swiped.

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Scribbled on the back of an overtime parking ticket when the fine was sent to the Casper police department was this message:

"My husband was watching some blonde in shorts and forgot all about parking meters. Sorry."

LONDON (AP)—The Sikhs of Manchester are pretty upset. The city transport company won't let them work as bus conductors in their turbans.

No Sikh would think of wearing a uniform cap over his traditional headdress.

Applicants for the job offered to wear the company's insignia clipped to the folds of the voluminous material—the way Sikhs do in the army—but the company refused.

Gyani Sundar Singh Sagar and five other Sikhs said the turban is part of a "proper Sikh's" life and has religious significance to him.

Three Held Prisoner in Plant As Strike Erupts in Violence

TERREBONNE, Que. (CP)—A week-long strike of 60 furniture factory employees erupted violently Thursday night when rioters held three men prisoners in the factory for more than 12 hours.

The men were finally led from the plant under escort early today after provincial police dispersed a mob that swelled to nearly 1,000 persons at one time and left the exterior of the plant in shambles.

Police said arrests would be made later today. No one was injured.

Trapped in the Bilrite Furniture Manufacturing Inc. plant were sales manager Gordon Kaufman, secretary-treasurer Moe Bulua, and office clerk Gordon Lavigne.

Kaufman said he and the other men tried to leave the plant at 3:30 p.m. but were stopped by a threatening mob that steadily grew in size and by 10 p.m. was beyond the control of the town's four-man police force.

Kaufman said the Upholsterers International Union of North America (CIU) last week was recognized as bargaining agent for the company's employees.

The employees immediately walked out, though there had been no contract talks or negotiations, he said. Wednesday, Bilrite hired a number of new employees. Thursday, no one showed up for work.

BEST KNOWN because they're best for TRUCK ECONOMY!

Chevrolet Trucks are Canada's best sellers because they're the biggest savers. Your bank book puts the proof in black and white! You save on Chevrolet's low price, you save on lower upkeep costs and you save mile after mile with Chevrolet's outstanding fuel economy.

Chevrolet engineers know you don't have money to burn. That's why Chevrolet Truck engines are designed to squeeze Truck-sized horsepower out of the very minimum of fuel. Every Chevrolet engine, V8 or six, brings you the benefits of super-efficient, short-stroke performance plus many more economy and durability features such as precision bearings, forged steel crankshaft, valve-in-head design, 12-volt electrical system.

In fact, Chevrolet Trucks are built to save in every way. Vari-rate rear springs adjust to the load, last up to twice as long. Bigger brakes outlast normal lining life. And all Chevrolet's long-lasting qualities mean your Truck delivers extra years of trouble-free, profit-boosting service. No wonder Chevrolet Trucks prove such a sound investment. Talk to your Chevrolet Truck dealer soon. He'll show you how to save, from the moment you take to the road in your new Truck, till the day you accept that extra-generous trade-in allowance for it.

Painted Women Decent?

LONDON (UP)—Brig. Gen. Sir Norman Gwatkin ordered 20 African women dancers—their bosoms clad only in a coat of paint—to perform for him alone to determine whether they are too much for the British public.

Gwatkin was assigned by the Lord Chamberlain's office to decide whether the act of the Guinean Ballet violates British law.

The British permit nudes on stage but they must remain motionless.

The ballet's art director, Kante Facelli, explained how the ballet hopes to circumvent this.

"We paint the girls' bosoms with bright colors—red, yellow, green and blue," Facelli said. "From the audience you would not know that they were not wearing material. And the girls are much happier that way."

One of the dancers, Nalo Camara, 15, added, "Married women in my homeland are always dressed. Unmarried girls are not."

Another said, "To us, European dress customs are almost indecent."

NEW PRESIDENT OF S. KOREA ALMOST UNANIMOUS CHOICE

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Yoon Bo-sun, austerity-minded descendant of Korean nobility, today was elected the first president of the second republic of Korea.

Yoon, 62-year-old former commerce minister, succeeds the ousted Syngman Rhee.

After Rhee was deposed earlier this year the presidency was relegated to a largely ceremonial post but the president still nominates the premier for approval or rejection by the Lower House.

Yoon was the overwhelming choice of both Houses of the National Assembly to take over the office given up by Rhee when his authoritarian state collapsed in April.

Job Insurance Report Withheld

OTTAWA—A report of the government warning that Canada's Unemployment Insurance Fund faces bankruptcy in two or three years unless drastic remedial measures are taken, was withheld from parliament for at least 10 days.

The report of the nine-member unemployment insurance advisory committee, according to chairman A. J. MacNamara, was submitted to Labor Minister Starr "about July 30."

Under the Unemployment Insurance Act, the report had to be in the hands of the government before the end of July.

It was tabled in the Commons, a step that does not involve oral notice, in the dying hours of the session Wednesday evening.

Opposition Leader Pearson issued a statement saying, "This is another evidence of the contempt of parliament shown by the Diefenbaker government."

Mr. Pearson, without elaboration, said the report was presented to the government on July 27, "and tabled in the House during the evening of the last day of the session, when the government knew that no opportunity would be given to the House, and the opposition in particular, to ask questions about the very important recommendations contained in that report."

Mr. MacNamara and his committee told the government the unemployment insurance fund needs an immediate grant of $131,024,000 to put it back at a safe level.

'ASK STARR' Prime Minister Diefenbaker's only comment today was: "Ask Mr. Starr."

Mr. Starr said he tabled the report as soon as he could.

Part of the report was written by the actuaries of the fund, Richard Humphrys and J. W. Kroeker, both employed by the department of insurance. It was dated July 12.

Mr. MacNamara signed the final draft of his report July 27.

Mr. Pearson said his party expressed its anxiety about the position of the fund over the last two sessions.

Lightning Storms Spark New Outbreak

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Hampered by a huge smoke pall which renders ranger lookouts and water bombers helpless, foresters in the Prince George district today face a new rash of fires started by a fierce but almost dry overnight thunderstorm.

More than 60 fires now are burning in the district, more than half of them started by electrical storms during the last 48 hours.

The fires include a 10,000-acre blaze hopelessly out of control in the Burnt Creek area south of Chetwynd which sent firefighters fleeing for their lives earlier this week.

Worst hit by Thursday night's storm was the Fort St. James area 100 miles northwest of here where 13 new outbreaks were reported. A 50-mile-an-hour wind fanned fires during the storm but little rain was reported, barely 7-10ths of an inch falling here.

TRIANGLE CLOSED

The forest service early today placed a vast triangle of timberland in the south Peace River area out of bounds to campers and hikers. The area runs from the Peace on the B.C.-Alberta border to McGeorge, southeast of Prince George, and Finlay Forks.

"Only recreational activity exempted from the ban is fishing from boats on lakes which have direct access from a highway."

Twenty-two new fires started by lightning were reported in the 150,000 square mile district Thursday and further outbreaks were expected to be discovered today.

The forest service also has extended its general forest closure in the coastal Vancouver forest district.

The Theory of Blackmail

IF THE CANADIAN PEOPLE are not careful they may see their internal affairs following, in grim parallel, the collapse of the international Summit.

At the recent conference between the Federal and provincial Governments in Ottawa—the Canadian Summit—the provinces made extreme and quite impossible demands on the national treasury. If the Federal Government rejects them, as it must, what happens then?

The provinces could modify their demands and take half a loaf rather than no bread. Alternatively they could smash the existing federal-provincial taxation agreements altogether, collect their own income, corporation and estate taxes and drive the nation into a kind of fiscal anarchy and cold war between its 11 governments.

It took Canada many years to erect the existing agreements which were based primarily on the findings of the historic Rowell-Sirois Commission.

Its recommendations were not followed exactly but all provinces, except Mr. Duplessis' Quebec, agreed that only one tax collector should operate in the major revenue fields. The central Government alone would collect these revenues and distribute part of them, on an agreed basis, to the provinces.

The purpose of this arrangement was threefold: To avoid the unnecessary cost and inconvenience of two separate tax-collecting agencies; to make sure that tax rates did not vary too widely in the different provinces; and to guarantee the poorer provinces a minimum income, sufficient to support a reasonable scale of public services.

All this useful work will be destroyed if the rich provinces, failing to get all they want from the national treasury, start to collect their own income, corporation and estate taxes again, each at a different rate, without regard to the needs of their poorer neighbors and of the Federal Government.

The direct financial consequences would be grave enough but not so grave as the political consequences—the word "political" being used in its large, non-partisan sense. For the basic premise of the Rowell-Sirois reforms, in all their changing versions, was that the nation could not live safely, if it could live at all, in a state of disunity created by the conflict of the "have" and the "have-not" provinces.

National unity, and perhaps the nation itself, could not survive if a few rich provinces maintained opulent public services and the remainder could not finance a decent standard of government.

That premise is still valid. Without a system of tax sharing and equalization grants from Ottawa, many provinces would be plunged into desperate straits, some doubtless into bankruptcy. The resulting strains on the nation's unity would be dangerous, perhaps fatal.

Yet these dangers will face us immediately if the governments of the rich provinces, falling in their raid on the national treasury, decide to collect their own taxes as they please while the devil takes the hindmost.

Clearly the Federal Government cannot satisfy the demands of Ontario, or even the more modest demands of Quebec, without imposing crushing new taxes all over the nation. On their present scale these demands must and presumably will be rejected by Mr. Fleming and he should have all the national taxpayers behind him in rejecting them.

He will be wise to reject them without delay so that the provincial Governments, resuming their conference in the autumn, will see that they must modify their appetite for federal money or take the responsibility of creating a double tax collection, varying wildly in rate from province to province, and a condition of financial chaos.

If the people of the provinces don't want that to happen they should be telling their governments to use a little common sense and abandon the tactics of blackmail against the nation.

Esquimalt's Arena Vote

ESQUIMALT COUNCIL HAS given the municipality's property owners plenty of time in which to consider the arena-sports centre project. Tomorrow the property owners will vote on the $400,000 money bylaw involved.

The council, in which the electors have shown continued confidence at the polls, believes the facilities are highly desirable. The reeve and his colleagues have explained that financing will have a negligible effect on taxes. They take the position that Esquimalt has been without adequate recreational assets too long and that this is the start of a program which will meet the demands of the day.

They have met property owners whenever the latter have sought information and have replied to questions at a public meeting.

There has been no high pressure technique applied to the campaign for the ice surface and sports centre. The council has stated its case simply and well.

The vote tomorrow should be cast in a thoughtful way, without the ruffled emotions so frequently encountered when ratepayers decide money issues. That is the sane course Reeve Wurtele and his colleagues have invited by their practical and reasoned approach to the issue.

The question is simple: Are the property owners prepared to provide facilities which their elected representatives unanimously recommend, or are they disinterested in establishing a substantial municipal attraction?

Why Delay It?

MR. BENNETT HAS ASKED the Public Utilities Commission to postpone its proposed hearing on the Pacific Northern Railway until after the election. He gives no reason, but presumably his request comes as a result of political accusations that the commission hearing—a reversal of the PUC's earlier decision not to study the PNR situation unless called on to do so by "interested parties"—has been arranged for election purposes and by agreement between the Premier and the commission. Both these accusations have been officially denied.

The public will take a practical view. The PUC hearings could be expected to elicit some information about the PNR—although the restricted nature of the proposed study would keep this to a minimum—and information is what the public would like to have before, not after, it votes. Mr. Angus's proposal to hold hearings before the election is therefore a wise one, although the investigation should be much more thorough than he envisions.

If the PUC cannot investigate the proposed quarter-billion dollar railway project in all its implications and its impact on the province's economy, then what is it for? The PUC should have done this job before the June 30 construction deadline, but it is still not too late to let the public find out something about it.

The legal point of whether the PUC has jurisdiction—whether, indeed, the PNR is now a utility—is important. But the full background relating to "convenience and necessity" is even more important and should be given a full airing.

Back to Bigness

IN NORTH AMERICA, WITH ITS cult of bigness, it is always difficult to keep anything small. Thus the automobile makers of Detroit, after the costly mistake of the over-sized car, are now predicting that their new small cars will grow considerably next year.

They were forced, after stubborn resistance, to build compact models or lose more and more of their market to European imports. Yet now they are talking of larger and more powerful compacts, king-sized versions as one of the leading manufacturers call them.

If this trend continues the industry may soon be back to where it started and that would admirably suit the foreign makers of truly small and relatively cheap cars.

At the same time, however, next year's "standard" cars, the giants against which the American public rebelled, will be somewhat reduced in bulk. When the two extremes meet somewhere in the middle possibly Detroit will achieve a reasonable compromise—a car that can be parked in crowded cities and paid for by ordinary folk.

But clearly there will always be a market for the midget models and if Detroit refuses to supply them they will come from foreign makers.

All of which, presumably, will provide a wide field of study for Mr. Diefenbaker's latest of many royal commissions when it considers the present plight of the high-cost Canadian automobile industry.

"Now remember . . . Mr. Bernstein is stronger than Mr. Gruber . . . if it's a poor performance don't kick him in the shins . . ."

WHEN WE PICK UP THE BEAT

Musical Treat or Musical Threat?

THIS could hardly be called a musical age. Neither in composition nor in public recognition of musicians can we match earlier eras.

On the contrary, the twentieth century has probably done more to destroy music — by substituting rhythmic and unrhymed noise — than any previous time. Yet because of our technical advances and our mastery of electronic reproduction, music exerts an ever greater effect on our lives today. It is played more and more, not so much to add enjoyment to our existence, but as an accompaniment for other activities, even when these conflict with the music.

How many thousands of households are operated against a background of instrumental music from radio, record player or TV—a background which must be shouted down when communication is needed between members of the household; and which booms, whistles, moans, whinnies, brays and vibrates unendingly without their appreciation or conscious knowledge.

Supersonic

Music under such conditions might be described as present but not accounted for. It contributes nothing to the listeners' lives and is of no more aesthetic value than a self-imposed ringing in the ears.

What mental or emotional effect it may have must be very slight. But the possibility of inducing mental states through music, not for cultural reasons but for economic, or practical effects, has been seized on and widely exploited.

Peppy music is played in factories to increase workers' output; soothing music is played in doctors' and dentists' offices to allay fears; tunes deemed suitable are played in stores and supermarkets to put the customer in a receptive frame of mind.

One supermarket in particular seems always to be playing "Beautiful Dreamer" when I am in the vicinity, and the store indeed is filled with beautiful dreamers, the housewives who with glazed eyes and beatific expressions drift beautifully along the aisles, drenched in melody and reaching, reaching, reaching dreamily for the attractively displayed products.

In the Mood

Everybody taps a foot to one of Sousa's marches; everybody relaxes to Ave Maria; everybody perks up for the Light Cavalry Overture; everybody feels a little happier in the swing of a Strauss waltz.

This much is obvious. But how much deeper can the influence go?

The real music lover, who can be transported to realms beyond the concert hall is, of course, in a different class. His taste in music and his reaction to it go far beyond the casual effect of rhythm on a passerby.

But can the latter be put into a frame of mind which will induce any feeling planned by the controller of the public address system? Can he be made receptive to sales blandishments which he would otherwise ignore?

Will he, in short, progress from the pitch pipe to the sales pitch and carry his feeling of approval along with him?

The consensus seems to be that he will, and no doubt the experts have statistics to prove it.

It remains for India, the land of mysticism, to go a step farther. No less an authority than the Indian minister of agriculture says experiments show that music can increase the yield of rice plants.

Sound Practice

A rice paddy excited by music from loudspeakers produces from 22 to 38 per cent more rice, he says. The experts are looking into the phenomenon further, and may launch a large-scale project to grow-it-with-music.

That's a hard one to figure. One suggestion has been that the musical vibrations stimulate the molecules in the plants, resulting in better growth. And there's probably a lot of work to be done yet in determining the best kind of music to do a particular agricultural job.

Is this a hint of the world of the future?

Already cows and chickens are encouraged to yield under the influence of music. Will plants be added to the audience, so that the musical chain is complete?

Meat, vegetables, dairy products will be produced through music. The products will be canned in factories whose workers are stirred to greater effort by music; sold in stores whose customers are lulled by melody, and eaten in music-filled homes.

The baton will replace the sceptre as the symbol of power; orchestras will replace governmental cabinets; musical scores will replace law books.

Harmony will reign supreme. And there won't be much chance of escape.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Where's the Information?

In a leaflet put out by the Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt dealing with their proposed Sports Centre, it is stated:

"Your council has examined operational statements of more than a dozen rinks in B.C. and are satisfied that . . . a sports centre here can be operated at no expense to the taxpayers in Esquimalt."

For the purpose of judging the soundness of this conclusion reached by the council, I have made repeated requests both by word of mouth and in writing to be supplied with the names of the places where these rinks operate and with the figures shown on their "operational statements". As to the place-names, two or three were mentioned in quite an offhand manner: as to the figures (even of these two or three places), nothing!

One's mind is haunted by a doubt as to the good faith of council which has "examined operational statements" and is so reluctant to disclose the information requested. Without this information it is impossible to make comparisons and allow for differences between these "more than a dozen rinks" and this proposed Esquimalt scheme. As a consequence a sound judgment of the latter is impossible and an intelligent vote cannot be cast.

Who Benefits?

In reference to those "Eight Great Years" in B.C., there may be individuals of the multitude wondering just who the lucky recipients of the greatness are.

For instance all those miles of improved and new highways are a great thing alright. Great for the improved transport and peddling of commodities and raw materials that are part of the process of extracting surplus-values from wage-labor. These bridges and tunnels will help John Doe in his movements from one exploiter to another; also facilitate his access to the wide open spaces for a too short respite from progress and proletarian "prosperity."

We hear lofty stories of "highest wages," biggest this and "best that." But an 11 year survey by Western Development and Power Ltd., says that "The overall labor cost expressed as a percentage of the selling value of factory products in B.C. is not out of line with either Quebec or Ontario or with Canada as a whole." And while industrial wages (real) seem to have risen, the buying power of pensions and incomes of the handicapped has declined.

But something that we don't hear much about from the Social Credit corner of the ring is B.C.'s record of the highest per capita rate of divorce, suicide, alcoholism, crime and juvenile delinquency, of any province in Canada.

In reality however, he can do no more about abolishing opulence at one end of the social scale and degradation at the other, than could the governments that preceded him or those that would like to follow him. His only duty is to administer the system that causes all these. The duty of the workers is to abolish it someday and establish common ownership. The time to start is now.

Tariff on Cars

The Times editor has good reason to be concerned about the danger of tariffs being erected against car imports. With both the car makers and the unions crying for protection that danger is very real. Besides, Conservative politicians have no great reputation for enlightened trade policies, and in this connection the present Ottawa regime has been running true to form.

The setting-up of a royal commission to look into the car mess, however, would appear the proper course at this time. Even if it should result in nothing more than a refutation of the tariff argument it will have been well worth the money.

A couple of facets of the industry's dilemma are of special significance. One is the union's request to Mr. Diefenbaker that Canadian automobile, truck and parts production be "integrated" with their U.S. counterpart. This request is being made by locals who in the past have been quite vocal in a fight for more Canadian union autonomy. Yet in asking for the integration of the two industries they are advocating a doctrine which, if it became the rule, could give the coup de grace to all autonomy so far as this country is concerned.

The other facet has to do with the PM himself. It will be recalled that before the last election there was a lot of big talk about removing the excise tax on cars, then alleged to be the cause of the industry's troubles. The facile and simple solution was to cut taxes, or so Mr. Diefenbaker thought.

OTTAWA:

Sharpening The Teeth

By MAURICE WESTERN

THE Bill of Rights, as passed by the House of Commons, differs in a number of interesting ways from the measure presented for second reading on July 1 by the Prime Minister. While the changes do not touch the fundamental criticisms directed at the bill by those who seek a comprehensive enactment with "teeth," they do represent substantial improvements and remove at least one major uncertainty.

Western

Thus, in its original form, the bill provided that no act should be construed or applied so as to "impose or authorize the imposition of torture, or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment."

As ministers have insisted that the bill is a "super-statute," which will override other statutes, the objection was offered that it might have the unintended effect of destroying sections of the Criminal Code prescribing capital and corporal punishments.

Mr. Fulton held, in committee, that this was a "remote possibility" but he failed to convince a number of his own supporters, including Mr. Dorion, a great criminal lawyer.

To meet the difficulty, Parliament has gone back to the language of the original English Bill of Rights. The clause now forbids "the imposition of cruel and unusual punishments." Obviously capital punishment was not outlawed in Britain by the bill of 1689.

It is of interest that the conjunction "and" is important here; whipping, for example, may be cruel but it is not unusual, and a punishment must be both to fall under the ban.

Minor Role

Many of the other changes result from Liberal criticisms; in this controversy the CCF played a very minor role both in committee and in the House.

The bill, as urged originally by Mr. Pearson, now contains a preamble to which members on both sides made important contributions. The declaration section has been expanded to include the right to "equality before the law" (a phrase introduced to strengthen the anti-discrimination provisions).

The operative section has been reworded to make it more direct and again there have been additions. Thus the bill now provides that an act must not be so construed as to deprive a person "of the right to be presumed innocent until proved guilty according to law in a fair and public hearing . . ." or of "the right to reasonable bail without just cause."

The Liberals also put forward an amendment asserting the right of a person to the services of an interpreter in any proceedings in which he was involved. This was prompted in part by a recent experience in Eastview, Ont., where the right was denied.

Mr. Fulton at first objected on the ground that this was fully covered by the phrase "fair . . . hearing." But he reversed his position in consideration of the possibility that the right might be denied by a magistrate in the first instance, in which case the affected person would be compelled to resort to appeal procedures to obtain justice.

Economic Rights

A series of opposition amendments intended to inscribe "economic" and other rights into the Bill were rejected by the Conservative majority. Mr. Fulton met them all with similar arguments. The Liberals were seeking to write a bill of particulars or charter of economic rights.

Some of the proposals (for example, the right to "employment at a fair and equitable remuneration") would carry Parliament into fields of provincial jurisdiction. Others ("the right . . . to the protection of the law against arbitrary interference with privacy, family, home or correspondence") involved matters best left to the operation of private law. Others again (the right to freedom of movement and residence) were already covered, so the minister argued, by the phrase "security of person."

To these objections, the Liberals made the obvious retort that the Bill already included various particulars (such as presumption of innocence). Since the section was declarative, there was no obvious reason why it should not, like the universal declaration, set forth desirable objectives.

Of a rather different order was the amendment moved by Mr. Martin applying to the Interpretations Act. This would have accomplished the purpose of a "super-statute" by providing that "every Act . . . order, rule and regulation" is amended to the extent that its provisions "abrogate or abridge" any of the freedoms declared in the Bill of Rights.

Guilt Presumed

The point here is that a number of statutes, such as the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act, place a presumption of guilt on the accused. Mr. Fulton rejected this amendment on the ground that it was unnecessary; the Bill already provided "a rule of construction with respect to every statute of Canada."

This, of course, is the heart of the controversy; the Liberals (and the Canadian Bar Association) say that the Bill should have "teeth" and the minister insists they are there already.

As originally written, the Bill instructed the minister of justice to "examine" every proposed regulation and every Bill to "ascertain" whether any of the provisions contravened the Bill of Rights. It did not say what he should do following his examination. The new wording requires him to report to the House on any inconsistency which he may find.

The Liberals sought, in addition, to include a right of petition by private persons to a standing committee of the House of Commons. Mr. Diefenbaker opposed the amendment but agreed that a watchdog committee was desirable and suggested that this was an appropriate matter to be considered at the next session by the rules committee.

U.S. Tourist Expelled by Soviet In Latest Charge of 'Spying'

MOSCOW (Reuters).—The Soviet Union announced Thursday a U.S. tourist who allegedly photographed warships and drew maps of key internal points has been expelled from Russia.

The tourist, 27-year-old Robert Christner of Sparks, Nev., denied Thursday night that he had engaged in any unusual activity.

Soviet Police No Cupids; Ruined Tourist's Romance

BERLIN (UPI).—A California school teacher said Thursday she spent 10 days of terror shadowed by Soviet secret police because a Russian fell in love with her.

Betty Jean Koferts of Los Angeles said the current Soviet spy scare has made friendships impossible between Russians and Americans.

She went to the Soviet Union as a tourist "filled with good will and leaning over backwards" to believe the best of a nation that has produced great works of art and sputniks.

But the tall, slim brunette found herself labelled a "Pentagon spy" with her telephone tapped and under constant police surveillance.

All this happened, she explained with indignation and horror, because a young Lenin-grad student dated her.

"I don't know why they picked on me," he said.

Christner acknowledged he had two cameras but added: "I have been taking pictures everywhere, just like any other tourist."

The second case of an American being charged with spying in Russia in as many days, it came six days before U-2 pilot Francis Powers goes on public trial in Moscow.

In Washington the explosion was termed by the state department as part of a campaign to inflame public opinion in advance of the trial.

The U.S. Embassy was warned that "exploitation" of tourists for spy purposes must stop.

Christner took "intelligence" notes, made topographic sketches and photographed ships, Tass said.

Christner, graduate of Nevada and California Universities, said he was studying Russian history and railroading, and added he learned the Russian language while with the U.S. army security agency.

His sketches, allegedly made in Baku, Kiev, Lvov and other cities, noted railroads, bridges, radio aerials and other strategic landmarks, Tass said. The ships were photographed at Baku.

The notes, sketches and film, concealed in a special belt beneath Christner's clothing, were seized.

FAMED ARTIST UNDER ARREST

MEXICO CITY (AP).—The Mexican government Tuesday night clamped down on communism's loudest voice in the country, world-famed muralist David Alfaro Siqueiros.

The artist, elected secretary-general of the Mexican Communist party three months ago, was arrested while police were beating down another leftist-led demonstration by 800 students and others in downtown Mexico City.

Air Liners Avert Disaster

ROME (UPI).—A London-bound British plane and a jet airliner from New York with a total of 150 persons aboard the two craft escaped an air collision by an eyelash at Rome's Ciampino airport Thursday.

The planes were going in to land when each pilot spotted the other plane and saw a head-on collision was imminent.

British pilot James Bell promptly went into a 2,000-foot nose dive while American pilot D. W. Mitchell put his Boeing 707 jet airliner into a steep climb.

The British Viscount took such violent evasive action within seconds to spare that 23 persons aboard were injured.

Playful tug-of-war for possession of Seniors' Northwest Golf Association championship today is staged by Seattle's Stan Stretton (left) and Victoria's George Sparling. They got down to serious business when they set out to decide winner of silverware today at Victoria Golf Club in final round of 38th annual tournament. This marks Sparling's second trip to final. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

George Hasn't Been Bothered By Any Nerves

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Mrs. George Sparling had hoped her husband wouldn't qualify for the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association's championship flight earlier this week.

She was thinking of the nerves—his and hers.

But George's nerves have been behaving extremely well and, coupled with some of his finest rounds of the season, the veteran southpaw from the Victoria Golf Club stepped out on his home course today in a bid to bring the seniors' title back to Vancouver Island for the first time in 18 years.

The 63-year-old Sidney resident was to tee off against Seattle's Stan Stretton in the 18-hole final over the Oak Bay course.

Sparling stepped into the final Friday with a handy 6-and-5 victory over the highly-rated Dr. Oscar Willing of Portland. Stretton, 65-year-old retired oilman, defeated Victoria's Harold Husband, 3 and 2, to earn his berth.

Not since John Hart accomplished the feat in 1943 has an Island golfer captured the coveted seniors' bauble. But the 19th-hole experts, considering Sparling's outstanding play this week, were willing to pin the favorite's label on the Oak Bay swinger.

George sailed around in even par figures in disposing of Willing. He started out the week by carding a one-over 70 Sunday in the annual seniors' international team match. On Monday, Sparling qualified handsily with a 71 despite missing two easy putts.

"Can't complain about my golf this week," the southpaw swinger said after Friday's outing. "Before Sunday, I had a hard time breaking 80."

"It certainly is bringing that eight handicap of mine down in a hurry."

Stretton, the lanky, long-hitter who plays to a nine handicap, wasn't far off Sparling's medal pace. Stan was two over when his match with Husband ended on the 16th.

This marks Stretton's first serious bid for the seniors' crown although the ex-oilman campaigned in other events in earlier days.

He kicked up his greatest golf storm—one fine day in Texas "many years ago" when he marked up 18 consecutive one-putt greens in a medal tourney.

The feat was duly recorded in Robert Ripley's "Believe It or Not" items.

Did Anybody Notice Tudors Gained Final?

Tudor House has done the second straight over Doman Lumber, 10-2, to claim the Central Park Senior Softball League was overshadowed today by proceedings in the committee rooms.

Heywood Avenue Park league officials Thursday asserted that their loop would not compete in B.C. senior "B" playoffs this year. This means that the scheduled series between the Heywood and Central Park "B" division playoff winners will probably be cancelled.

Heywood called off the series because of a ruling that named Central as the site of the opening game of the play-off; the fact that city umpires, who don't belong to the B.C. Umpires Association, will not be able to work the games, and that the proposed series is termed a B.C. playoff rather than a city playoff.

Cecil White, Vancouver secretary of the B.C. Amateur Softball Association, warned the league that a reprimand may result if the action is carried through.

While the leagues battled in committee rooms, the players went about mixing things up a bit in the field.

Tudor House, which won only two games all season in regular league play, won its

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"You should take a day off," the B.W. said to me, "by writing a guest column for you."

"I don't dig you, Mother," I replied.

Just reprint some of your "Wilsonisms," dear," she said.

"Oh, come now," I demurred modestly. "They're not that great!"

"No, they're not," she agreed, all too quickly. "But it would be very interesting to see what you think you wrote that is funny." She added, crisply, "Probably be a riot."

I suppose the silly girl means little things I knocked off over the years like, "Pretty soon everything'll be air-conditioned but Hell!" "Broadway showgirls think money grows on trees!" "Oh, what is so bare as a dame in June?" "A wife's a woman who saves up her husband's money for her!" "Never give advice, SELL it!" "Airlines serve so much chicken, their slogan must be 'Chicken every Fly-day!'" "I call my tuxedo my dinner jacket because I always get so much of my dinner on it."

A LOT BETTER

"You can do a lot better!" the B.W. glowed. "Some of those things you wrote about people."

Oh, all right! "Some men know Zsa Zsa so well they call her Zsa." "My favorite exercise is taking a brisk run around Elsa Maxwell!"

"Arthur Godfrey's voice gets voice and voice" (sent in by a contributor) . . . "Jane Russell's such a wonderful singer—I can't take my eyes off her voice" . . .

"You were pretty nasty to us girls in your time," the B.W. said.

"Not to you, dear," I cooed. It was the B.W. who said, "The first day of any diet is the hardest because by the second you're not on it any more."

"I did happen to mention a girl 'who was in her early thirties' . . . 'Fifty thousand girls come to N.Y. every year to make their fortune, or somebody' . . . 'Women fall into two classes: those who make a home for a man, and those who make a man for a home' . . . 'A historical novel is one that has a lovely girl on the jacket, but no jacket on the lovely girl!' . . . 'A small town is a place where when you see a girl dancing with a man old enough to be her father, he is.'"

Ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Richard Starezek, aged 13, of Utica, N.Y., for his question:

What is a Dormouse?

The famous Alice dreamed her adventure in Wonderland, of course, while she was dozing. It is not surprising then that she should meet a furry little animal whose name means sleepy mouse. In real life, the dormouse is indeed a sleephead. He may live six years, but his entire waking time totals up to no more than a year and a half. He hibernates for six months of every year. During the summer season, when he is fairly active, he sleeps through the daylight hours.

EUROPEAN

Sad to say, the lazy little charmer is not a native of the New World. He and his cousins, however, are quite common in Europe, Asia and Africa—though seldom seen. In appearance, old Sleepyhead is much more like a squirrel than a mouse. He may be as big as the red squirrel and his soft, silky fur may be chestnut red, brown or hazel. He has a long, fur-covered tail, small round furry ears, a round blunt nose and, of course, a pair of bright but sleepy eyes. Charmer is not a native of the

LIKE SQUIRREL

The dormouse also resembles a squirrel in character. Unlike a real mouse, he is a vegetarian and most of his time is spent in trees. When possible, the main course on his diet includes nuts. He is fond of beechnuts, hazelnuts and acorns. For dessert he enjoys wild berries and, should someone adopt him as a pet, they will soon find that little Sleepyhead is very fond of apples.

Most of these foods can be stored for the winter months, but this hard work does not appeal to the dormouse. When fall comes, he eats more than his usual ration and becomes very, very fat. This extra fat will supply his needs during the six months of hibernation. He may find a winter bed in a hollow tree or more likely in a deserted bird's nest. Somehow he gets up enough energy to waterproof the nest with moss and pull a blanket of wadded moss over himself for warmth.

BUSY BABIES

Mrs. Dormouse has two broods of babies during the summer season. At first the young are blind, naked and completely dependent upon mother's tender care. Soon they grow soft coats of fur and open their starry bright eyes. Then Mrs. Sleepyhead has troubles indeed. For young dormice are far more sprightly than their parents. They want to play when Mamma wants to doze, they stay awake and are frisky when she wants to go to sleep.

STILL BUSY

The youngsters become adults when they are a year and three months old. When the first winter arrives they are teenagers, not as mischievous as children and not settled as adults. They are wise enough to put on the necessary extra fat, but stay active, perhaps for several weeks after their parents have gone to their winter quarters. Perhaps this is because they are at an age when the world is so new and wonderful to them that they want to see and do everything at once.

BEAUTIFUL BROWN EYES

Toronto Charmer New Miss Canada

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Eighteen-year-old Iris Thurlwell, born in New Westminster but now living in Toronto Thursday night was chosen Miss Canada of 1960.

Runners-up in order were Barbara LaMontagne, Quebec City; Doreen Serwa, Kelowna; Pegi Clarkson, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., and Marguerite Mares, Richmond, B.C.

Miss Thurlwell was crowned by last year's winner, Rosemary Keenan, in a ceremony climaxing three nights of competition by 23 contestants.

The winner was chosen from 11 semifinalists. Others in the last 11 were: Janice Wilson, Hamilton; Iris Robins, Longueuil, Que.; Sylvia Weaver, Saint John, N.B.; Joan Laferty, Toronto; Sherrin Molyard, Victoria, and Marilyn McFadden, Ridgeway, Ont.

The contest offers $30,000 in prizes and scholarships.

Miss Thurlwell, a brown-eyed brunette measuring 35-24-35, graduated this year from high school in Toronto. The daughter of a lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian army, she includes shooting among her hobbies. She hopes to use her prize money to help her get a fine arts degree.

15 BEAUTIES IN FINAL TEST; MISS CANADA ELIMINATED

LONG BEACH, Calif. (CP) — Fifteen beauties from as far apart as Singapore and Iceland have been chosen for tonight's final judging at the International Beauty Congress here.

Canada's representative, 24-year-old Margaret Powell of Calgary, was eliminated in Thursday night's semifinals. Miss Powell, a dark-eyed brunette, is an airline stewardess.

Farmer-Politician Argue Third to Lead CCF Party

REGINA (CP) — A boyish farmer-politician with a shock of unruly black hair and the manners of a tiger on the political platform wears the mantle of Woodsworth and Coldwell today.

Hazen Argue shed his title of House leader of the CCF party Thursday to become the third national leader of the party. But the story of his rise by unanimous choice of the party's national convention provided one of the oddest chapters in the 28-year history of the socialist movement founded by J. S. Woodsworth.

Weeks of manoeuvring and three hectic days of intrigue and a surge of revolt from the ranks, the 39-year-old Mr. Argue into the post, succeeding M. J. Coldwell, 71-year-old leader of the party since 1940.

He takes command of a party that reaffirmed unanimously its desire to join with the Canadian Labor Congress in founding a new, left-wing political party next year and at the same time gave birth to some strong views on foreign policy and economic affairs.

The convention also left in control the key men against whom the rank-and-file revolt was directed. David Lewis and Stanley Knowles, key figures in a leadership gambit that sparked the revolt and threatened to split the convention, won re-election in contests for the national presidency and vice-presidency, respectively.

Mr. Lewis, Toronto lawyer who is legal adviser to the Seafarers International Union and the Teamsters Union, defeated Fred Za'itny, former Dauphin, Man., member of parliament.

Mr. Knowles, a CLC vice-president and a member of parliament from 1942 until 1958, beat Douglas Fisher, Port Arthur, Ont., member of parliament since 1958 and chairman of the members of parliament caucus. The two tangled verbally at the height of the leadership controversy.

DOMINATING THEME

The leadership dominated the convention from the outset when Mr. Lewis on behalf of the 50 or 60 members of the governing national council of the party, announced the convention would be asked by the council to abolish the post of national leader from which

Mr. Coldwell had announced his retirement.

The council suggested Mr. Coldwell be named honorary leader, a post to which he subsequently was unanimously elected, and that Mr. Argue, who seemed to be aiming for the new-party leader's post next year, be named parliamentary leader.

The Argue supporters revolted, giving evidence in caucuses of provincial delegations of sufficient strength to block the leadership proposal of the council which comprises the national officers, provincial leaders and provincial association representatives.

The seven CCF members of Parliament stepped in, voting unanimously to advise the convention they favored a contest for national leader. But they were split on their preference for the post, one group backing Mr. Argue, and another Alistair Stewart, 55-year-old Winnipeg, chartered accountant and former member of Parliament.

'QUIT NATO' DEMAND
When the council's leadership compromise was put to a test, the convention overwhelmingly rejected it. Mr. Lewis admitted the council misjudged convention sentiment.

Another lengthy debate ensued on a foreign policy resolution with a considerable division of opinion on a recommendation that the new party's foreign policy should include a demand for Canada to get out of NATO.

MONTE ROBERTS

Well, I see where the football season is upon us, what with the British Columbias and the Winnipeg knock-out heads and all and here it is not quite quarter to World Series time.

This makes it almighty difficult for Amateur Athletic Analysts such as me, who must put up a knowledgeable front in order to get a word into any conversation apt to spring up these days.

We Amateur Athletic Analysts have a hard enough time thinking up wise-sounding phrases for one sport at a time, without having to be knowledgeable about both football and baseball, all in the same breath.

However, it is possible to hold your own with the experts, if you utter selected statements with an air of wisdom and authority.

Supposing someone in the conversational circle mentions the name of Elmer Fudd, and you do not know for the life of you whether he's a footballer or a baseballer. All you need do is say: "Oh, I guess he's okay, but can he go to the right?"

Your conversational opponents will nod wisely and admit, that is a moot point.

Or if someone says "How about that Elmer Fudd?" you can say: "He's apt to really kick one."

(It is necessary to wear a noncommittal expression during this gambit, as "kicking one" is dandy-o in one sport, and strictly from goonsville in the other.)

"Needs a stepladder and a basket for the high ones," would do nicely for Elmer Fudd, who may be either an outfielder or a pass receiver, because this is true of all but .0001 per cent of the athletes participating in either football or baseball.

When Elmer Fudd is mentioned, say: "Yes, but can he make the pay-off play?" and you'll keep the conversation rolling, while you earn respect for your savvy.

As for Elmer Fudd, try this: "Experience is one thing, age is another."

But save your best for Elmer Fudd, who, for all you know, may not be a footballer or a baseballer at all, but possibly a jai-lai novice or a tidily-winks champion.

Say: "Well, at least he tries to go like a hard-nose pro."

Amateur Athletic Analysts, get in there and trite.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a trip to Cordova Bay.

Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will meet in the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. for a program of entertainment.

Earlier this week 250 members visited the George Park for a picnic and dancing on the green.

Branch president R. H. French supervised the games.

Lieut. G. W. Peakman, RCN, leaving Victoria for Halifax, was honored Thursday for his efforts on behalf of the Handicapped Swimming Club of Victoria.

He had been in charge of the physical and recreational training centre at Naden where 78 handicapped children and adults have been allowed to use the swimming pool.

Arthur Burgess, at present with the YMCA in Vancouver, will be returning to Victoria—his home town—Sept. 1 to take up his appointment as physical director at the local branch.

Former physical director, Archie McKinnon, who was injured during a comedy act at Crystal Garden swimming pool last year, will hold the position of aquatics director and retain the ladies' gym classes.

A fine of $225 today was levied on Lee Yon in city police court for keeping a common gaming house at 628 Fisgard.

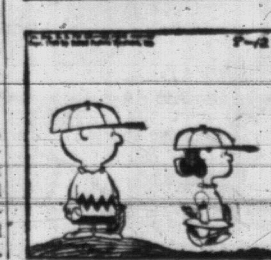

The charge was placed after police raided the premises in the early hours of July 17 and found a number of Chinese playing mah jong and pai gow or dominoes.

A man who claims to have had direct contact with space friends and flying saucers will speak here next week.

George King, London, England, editor of the Cosmic Voice, will address a public meeting Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the CCF hall, Courtney Street.

The cabinet has declared Oct. 16 to 22 "National Forest Products Week" in B.C.

An order signed by Forests Minister Ray Williston says "the economy of B.C. is substantially based upon our forests."

Two Seats Open For Bernstein

As a result of some last-minute cancellations due to other personal arrangements there were two seats still available at press time today for the "Bernstein buses" taking Victorians to the Bernstein concert in Vancouver Tuesday.

They may be applied for to Vancouver Island Coach Lines Travel Bureau which is issuing the tickets.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Laszlo Dioso, 507 Harbinger, $75, failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Alice H. Watson, 1524 Gladstone, $20, over 45 miles per hour.

James David Cox, 922 Inverness, $10, no safety chain on trailer.

False Pretences Charges Bring Prison Term

Richard Leslie Lampman, no fixed address, was sentenced in city police court today to 12 months in prison on one charge and six months on each of four others for obtaining goods by false pretences. Magistrate William Ostler said the terms would all run concurrently with another term of nine months he is serving on a previous conviction for the same offence in July of this year.

CLOUDY SKIES THREATEN PERSEID OBSERVATION TONIGHT

Star Gazers Ready for Annual Meteor Count

BY DON INGHAM

Victoria's amateur stargazers will be out in force tonight, starting at 9 o'clock, to make a systematic count of the annual "shooting star" display at this time of year.

Weather permitting, of course. Said one disgruntled amateur astronomer today as he glared at the overcast skies: "We've had clear nights every night for almost two months, but the very night there's a job to do we're 'socked in'."

The natural phenomenon is the annual Perseid shower, occurring when the earth passes through remnants of a long-since disintegrated heavenly body.

Members of Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, will make a systematic, naked-eye count of the falling meteors, and will submit their results to the National Research Council in Ottawa for analysis.

Similar groups in Edmonton, Calgary, Regina and Montreal will make counts, and the pooled results will give an indication of the density of meteors in outer space.

Franklin C. Loehde, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory staff, will have charge of the observation. Original plans called for members to meet on Mount Douglas, but because of the forest closure they will gather instead on Gonzales Hill near the abandoned wartime observation post.

Members of the public will be welcome.

"The work to be done will be of value to professional astronomers," Mr. Loehde said, "and the only articles of equipment needed are a pair of eyes, an overcoat, and perhaps a blanket."

Last year the Victoria group turned in the largest per-hour

total of all five cities taking part.

On a trial observation Thursday night observers counted 130 "falling stars," but more are expected tonight.

Weatherman William Mackie said that despite the inauspicious start to the day, there should be enough clearing by tonight to make the meteor count possible.

"The air is moist, but the clouds are thin, and should disperse by this afternoon," he said. "By midnight a few bands of clouds will start moving in again."

Temperatures will range between 55 and 75 degrees, he said, and winds will be light. Similar conditions will prevail throughout the weekend.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1960—PAGE 13

Reeve Bows to Blast By Builders on Arena

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele today bowed to Victoria contractors and backed down on his statement that the sports arena, if approved by ratepayers Saturday, would "probably" be given to an outside contractor.

After hearing angry protests from the 120-member Victoria Building Industries Exchange, Reeve Wurtele told the group he would accept "package proposal price" bids from local builders.

George Farmer, vice-president of the exchange, said the reeve admitted to him that he had said at a public meeting the proposed arena contract would probably go outside the district.

Mr. Farmer said the reeve and municipal engineer John Graeme, originally believed that there was no contractor in Victoria who could do the entire job.

"They had no doubts that Victoria contractors could put up the building," said Mr. Farmer, "but they want one firm to contract for the entire project."

Mr. Farmer said the package proposal price allows local builders to submit a price for the building, six sheets of ice, provision for a second floor and seating for 1,700 to 1,800 "within the municipality's $400,000 budget."

The Exchange plans to write a letter of protest over the reeve's statement despite Mr. Wurtele's change of heart "for the record," said Mr. Farmer.

'We Resented the Implication'

"Members of the Exchange are quite capable of building larger jobs than the arena," he said. "We resented the implication that the work would have to be done by outside contractors."

"We felt that if public money was to be spent, the work should be put to public tender. If the job was given to an outside builder the only local labor used would be a few extra tradesmen."

Reeve Wurtele added that a letter from G. W. Walkey, past president of Victoria Curling Club, in Thursday's Times stated the operating costs for his club during the last fiscal year were $47,973.83.

He did not mention, however, that operating revenue amounted to $71,855.80 — a profit of $23,111.97.

The reeve said he had received a letter from George Pearkes, defence minister and MP for Esquimalt stating that the arena might qualify for Ottawa's latest expansion of the winter works program.

"But I am not quite sure about it as yet," Reeve Wurtele said.

"It would be very heartening to the council to find a six

VOTES, NOTES, QUOTES

Famed CCF Name In Liberal Ranks

Eric Winch, son of an old CCF family headed by the late Ernest Winch, is one of the latest recruits to the Liberal Party.

Young Mr. Winch introduced provincial leader Ray Perrault at a well-attended nominating convention at Courtenay Thursday night.

Wallace W. Baikie, partner in a Campbell River logging company, was nominated Liberal candidate for the Comox riding.

B.C. Progressive Conservatives will encourage community entertainment and sports everywhere, says leader Deane Finlayson.

As a beginning "we are pledged to remove the 10 per cent provincial amusement tax," he said in Vancouver.

James A. A. George, indefatigable Oak Bay Conservative candidate, has made 5,200 house-to-house calls in the riding since he began campaigning 18 months ago.

And he is still making them. "Some days I make as many as 110 calls," Mr. George said.

"One-legged" Williston talked for 45 minutes clinging to a table Thursday night. "I thought I was going to get rid of this," said Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, pointing to a cast covering a slashed tendon suffered when an axe slipped two weeks ago on the beach at Parksville.

"But they put it back on for two weeks."

Who says Victoria voters are apathetic? More than 800 registered at the registrar of voters' office Thursday—last day for registrations. A further 500 notified change of address and nearly 1,400 checked their status.

The office was jammed all day and when it closed at midnight, the total number of new voters registered since last February was estimated at close on 30,000.

During the day upwards of 1,200 phone calls were received. "Phew!" said the staff.

Exhibits from the painting classes, under the direction of Mrs. Desires Shoenland, will include mobiles, paper mache work and constructions in various materials as well as the more traditional paintings.

Seven handweaving students will demonstrate their techniques to the public each afternoon. Their class, under noted city weaver, Mrs. Florence Daniels, has been working in a number of techniques normally restricted to adults.

Children's Work At Art Gallery

Summer work by children in Greater Victoria Art Gallery's painting and handweaving classes will go on display Sunday, Aug. 14 and continue through Saturday.

Exhibits from the painting classes, under the direction of Mrs. Desires Shoenland, will include mobiles, paper mache work and constructions in various materials as well as the more traditional paintings.

INNER TUBES BANNED AT 3 LAKE BEACHES

Inner tubes, air mattresses and similar floats are banned at Beaver Lake, Elk Lake and Thetis Lake beaches beginning this morning.

Signs have been posted and city parks department officials said the prohibition will be "rigidly enforced."

Meanwhile, four women and three men were hired to assist three staff lifeguards at the beaches.

The measures followed drowning last Sunday of eight-year-old Edward MacMullen who had been using an inner tube at Beaver Lake beach.

FUTURE NAVAL OFFICERS INSPECTED AT HMC DOCKYARD, ESQUIMALT

170 COMPLETE ROTP TRAINING COURSE

Final Inspection for Naval Cadets

Final review and inspection of 170 Regular Officer Training Plan cadets who recently completed their summertime professional training with the RN Pacific command was held at HMC Dockyard Thursday.

Inspecting officer was Rear-Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, flag officer, Pacific Coast, accompanied by Capt. Harry Porter, cadet training commander of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron.

Inspection was held on "B" Jetty, with the frigates of the Fourth Squadron, in which the cadets received sea training, on the background.

Two major awards were presented. Naval Officer Cadet L. T. C. East, of Vernon, won the Queen's Canadian Sword, awarded to the cadet with the highest marks in his overall training. To Officer Cadet J. W. Joynt, Ottawa, went the Stubb's Memorial Shield, for outstanding achievements in athletic ability and sportsmanship.

The ROTP cadets, from universities and colleges including the Canadian Services Colleges — across the country, started their summertime training at the Esquimalt naval base late last May. Their first two weeks were spent at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Esquimalt, where they received classroom instruction in navigation. Later they spent two weeks aboard frigates in British Columbia waters, then a six-week cruise to Japan, via the Aleutian Islands.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Is there a definite reason why the rifling in rifle barrels turns to the right instead of the left? S.D.F.C.

A. Most is right-handed, but not all. The probable reason given by rifle experts is the rifling is done in some cases with right-handed screw threads. Rifling in Colt revolvers and pistols, and in most British rifled arms, is left-handed. It has been said it was so chosen to compensate for the drift (a slight deviation in flight of projectiles fired from rifled arms, in the direction of the twist) for the error in shooting expected to result from the usual right-handed trigger pulling the trigger. However, any such advantage is largely fanciful and it makes no difference which direction of twist is chosen.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

13-Year-Old Would Like To Correct Sway Back

Q. "I am 13 years old and I have a sway back which I would like to correct." A. It is good that you recognize this defect in posture so soon. In the first place, you must be aware of posture during your waking hours. Exercises are most helpful but will be less effective if you hold your self incorrectly all day long. This counteracts the benefits of the exercises. Try to remember to pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under. Also, do the following exercise each night before going to sleep.

Josephine

Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place your feet flat on the floor. Press the small of your back against the floor. Press hard and hold until you count to 10 slowly. Relax. Continue. Q. "I do hope that you can help me. I am unusually big. I am 16 years old, my height is 6 feet and I weigh 170 pounds. My measurements are, bust 38 inches, waist 32 and hips 38. I would give anything to look smaller and more feminine. Please try to help me."

A. You should lose about seven pounds, and concentrate on waist-slimming exercises. Do not let your more-than-average height bother you. You may not look frilly and cute, but you can look stunning and gorgeous. You can wear high-fashion clothes which smaller woman cannot. Your carriage is of greatest importance. Slumping emphasizes your height while beautiful posture emphasizes your good looks. Anyway, personality is the main ingredient in charm and popularity.

Q. "What causes some women to have veins in their legs?" A. We would be in a bad fix if we did not have veins in our legs. However, I imagine you are talking about varicose veins. These may be caused by overweight, pregnancy, work which requires being on the feet for many hours a day, especially standing, and wearing very tight clothing. There also seems to be a tendency to inherit varicose veins, probably because the structure of the veins is inherited. Q. "I have very dry skin except that by the middle of the afternoon my forehead gets oily. What can I do?" A. Wash the oily areas with soap and water several times a day and use an astringent on the forehead.

Wide, supple and draped, this deep brown suede sash belt with its giant self buckle, is one of the many wide belts which will be seen this fall.

DEAR ABBY

Let the 'Ghost' Walk!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

* DEAR ABBY: Six years ago I married a widower with five children, ranging in age from 2 to 12. I don't like to boast, but I am known for my cooking and housekeeping and the interest I take in my children's activities, such as PTA, scouting, sports, etc. I recently made 33 costumes for a church pageant.

I love these children, Abby, but all I ever hear about is their "real" mother. I am competing with a ghost. They worship her memory. Their father wants them to "remember" their mother which is fine, but I practically raised them and I feel like I should help in my own home. What must I do to get a little appreciation?

NOT APPRECIATED DEAR NOT: Take a little "vacation." Let the "ghost" do the cooking, sewing and housekeeping for a week or two. You won't get appreciation by asking for it. We never miss the water till the well runs dry.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of love at first sight? BOB.

DEAR BOB: I think it's a wonderful time saver. CONFIDENTIAL TO COUNSELOR IN CABIN FOUR: Quit chasing him. The bigger the summer the harder the fall.

FROZEN PEACH JAM

Three cups crushed ripe peaches, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 5 cups white sugar, 1 bottle liquid pectin.

PRINTED PATTERN

by Anne Adams
Sew-Very-Easy

It's sew-easy to play fashion's game of "partners" with these smart separates. Mix and switch 'em for sun and sports all summer. Send now!

Printed Pattern 4559: Misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 top: 1 1/4 yards 35-inch; shorts: 1 1/4 yards; skirt 4 yards.

Printed directions on each pattern part. Easier, accurate. Send fifty cents (50¢) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Please print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send order to Anne Adams, Times Pattern Dept., 60 Front St., West, Toronto, 1-A. Ont.

Mix peaches, lemon juice and rind. Stir in sugar and stir until it dissolves. Let stand 15 minutes. Stir in all the liquid pectin. Stir for 2 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars. Cover. Let stand at room temperature one to two days until firm. Put on lids or tie on aluminum foil covers. Store in home freezer for several months or in refrigerator for several weeks. (Don't coat this jam with melted paraffin wax. The wax shrinks during freezing and leaves the jam unprotected. The cold air will draw the moisture from the jam.)

Vacation at Summer Home

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross will leave at the beginning of the week for their summer home at St. Andrew's, N.B. They will be joined there by Mrs. Ross's son, Mr. John Turner and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Turner and their two children.

The Chief Justice, the Hon. A. C. DesBrisay, will be the administrator of the province during the absence of the lieutenant-governor.

At the Festival

Mrs. William Ellis has returned to her home on Beach Drive after spending nine days in Vancouver where she attended presentations of the International Festival, including the Glenn Gould-Kersting Meyer-Schoenberg evening; a song recital by Kerstin Meyer; Madame Butterfly, a dance recital and the Peking Opera. Mrs. Ellis was accompanied by Mrs. W. Jeffrey of Mill Bay.

On the Plateau

Mrs. C. B. Pember and daughter have been recent guests at Forbidden Plateau Lodge. Others staying at the lodge have been Mr. and Mrs. K. Zetkin, Half Moon Bay; Mr. John E. Wheeler, Chemainus; Miss Margaret Jessup from California and Miss Marjorie McFeard, Vancouver.

Among Guests

In Victoria Wednesday for the Campbell-Moore wedding in Metropolitan United Church were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Campbell and Gordon of Vernon; Mrs. A. J. Blanchard, Vancouver.

Rutland, B.C.: Mrs. Jack Cameron, Annapolis Royal, N.S.; LAC Ross MacDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. John Padden, Mrs. Nellie Woods, Mr. and Mrs. L. Phillips and Andrew, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Latta, all of Duncan.

Reunion

Flt. Lieut. F. H. Baker and Mrs. Baker, with Ricky and Holly, were recent visitors to Salt Spring Island after returning from four years in Germany. They were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Baker, Sr., and Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. C. Zerkie, all of Ganges. Following a holiday this week in Vancouver the young family will return to Ottawa where Flt. Lieut. Baker was formerly stationed. Also in Ganges for a family reunion was Mrs. Baker's sister, Mrs. Croft Haynes with Charlie and Diane, of North Vancouver.

Visitors from Trinidad at present are Mrs. J. B. Bate and her two sons, Michael, seven, and four-year-old Brian. They are guests of Mrs. Bate's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Baker at their home on Mt. Douglas Cross Road.

Mr. Bate, who is still in Trinidad will join his family at the end of August. The Bates plan to leave for Montreal in mid-September and will spend some time in New York en route home to the West Indies.

Bride's Parents, Sister, Best Man, Cut Cakes at the Reception

Wedding of Miss Blanche Bertha Moore and LAC John William Campbell, Wednesday evening, was also occasion for celebration of the 25th wedding day of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. "Dinty" Moore.

At a reception in Four Mile House, home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Galbraith, the parents cut an anniversary cake and their daughter Beverley, soloist at the wedding, sang "The Anniversary Waltz" in their honor.

Miss Beverley, celebrating her 15th birthday, and the best man, LAC Cliff Black, RCAF, celebrating his 20th birthday, also cut cakes made in their honor.

Rev. Laura Butler conducted the double-ring wedding ceremony in Metropolitan United Church, which was decorated with gladioli and sweet peas for the occasion. Eric Boothroyd was organist and Miss Moore sang "O Promise Me." The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Campbell, came with their son Gordon from Vernon, B.C., for the wedding.

LACE AND CHIFFON

Bride's gown of Chantilly lace and chiffon was styled with scooped neckline embroidered with hand-cut lace flowers and iridescent beads and a chiffon skirt posed over hoops. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations. A Juliet cap, which had been worn by the groom's maternal grandmother, his mother and his sisters, completed her ensemble.

Matron of honor Mrs. Jack Cameron wore pink nylon chiffon over taffeta gown with white accessories; bridesmaids Misses Betty and Barbara Moore were gowned in turquoise organza over printed taffeta with matching headpieces and white accessories; flower-girl Miss Myra Baird was in a pink flowered organza frock with pink accessories. All carried colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Master Michael Moore was ring-bearer and the ushers were AB Gordon Campbell and Patrick Moore, brothers of the wedding couple.

W. Galbraith, uncle of the groom proposed the bride's toast and Mrs. Max Chalk was accompanist at the reception. Leaving on honeymoon in British Columbia the bride wore princess-style two-piece dress with white accessories and white carnation corsage. The couple will live at RCAF

GARDENIAS

A gardenia for my lady will be one of the charming touches at the Home Arts Building on Women's Day, Aug. 24, at the Pacific National Exhibition. They will be given to some lucky visitors as gifts from the PNE directors. The Home Arts Building will be particularly busy and attractive during the 1960 Golden Year exhibition Aug. 20-Sept. 5. In addition to the home-maker of 1960 and junior home-maker contest, there will be daily fashion shows and handicraft demonstrations. An orchestral program will be presented each afternoon from 5.30 to 6.30 p.m.

Station, Portage la Prairie, Man., where the groom is stationed.

Victoria Man Married at Langley

Pink and white gladioli and ivy decorated Port Kells United Church for the recent wedding of Patricia Prette Norman and Glenford Thomas Atkinson.

Rev. A. J. Griffin, assisted by Rev. R. W. Reid, conducted the double-ring ceremony. Organist was Miss Grace Lewthwaite. Soloist, Miss Pat Toft, sang "At Dawning."

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Norman of Langley, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Atkinson of Victoria.

A gown of white delustrated satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt featuring bordered lace panels over satin, was worn by the bride. A cap of pearl decorated lace held her chapel-length veil and she carried pink roses, stephanotis and ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Senior attendants, Miss Katherine Andrichuk, Miss Beverley Newnam and Miss Penny Ormrod and the flower girl, Miss Brenda Clark, wore rose and pink shaded gowns of Versailles taffeta. Seniors wore net hats topped with single velvet roses and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations centred with roses to match their gowns. Flower girl wore a net bonnet and carried a basket of pink roses.

Best man was Brian Atkinson, brother-of the groom, and the ushers were David Harding, Vancouver, and Barry Philbrook, Victoria.

Reception was held in the Newlands Country Club where

A McKay was master of ceremonies and G. Cook, former teacher of the bride, proposed the toast. Mrs. H. Clark was pianist at the reception.

Travelling on honeymoon to San Francisco and other places in northwestern United States, the bride wore a beige wool weave suit with trotter length coat, blue hat and gloves, beige accessories and a corsage of Tulliaman roses.

The couple attended University of British Columbia where the groom received his BSc degree. Both are now teaching in Port Alberni where they will make their home.

Victorians who travelled to Langley for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. P. Atkinson, Mrs. W. Atkinson with Francis and Patty, Mr. and Mrs. E. McDonald and Heather, Mr. and Mrs. T. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. R. Noble, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. Noble, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Noble, Mrs. F. Bryson, Miss K. O'Brien, Mr. H. Bate, Mr. and Mrs. H. Woodford, Mr. and Mrs. V. Atkinson and Lorna.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Appleby

Golden Wedding Day

On Friday, August 19, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Appleby will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary with "open house" at 541 Ker Avenue, from 3 to 5 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m.

They were married at Stockton-on-Tees, Durham, Eng., and came to Canada in 1912. Family home was at Regina where Mr. Appleby was with the CPR. He went overseas with the 46th Bn. in the First World War, then returned to Regina to live until 1945, when he retired and, with Mrs. Appleby, came to Victoria to make their home. He belongs to Victoria branch, War Amputations Association. The couple have two sons, Geoffrey who lives with his wife and four children in Victoria, and Fred who lives in Medicine Hat with his wife and two children. The family hope to be together for the celebration.

Old friends coming to the city for the anniversary are Mr. and Mrs. E. Senior of Vancouver and Miss Doreen Stanwick, Leeds, Eng., who is visiting in Vancouver at present.

Students Win Grants

Eighty-six Greater Vancouver Island high school students have qualified for provincial government grants of half their first-year university fees. Fifty-six Greater Victoria Grade 12 pupils were among those declared eligible.

Successful students must have obtained 80 per cent or more marks in the June exams. Education Minister Leslie Peterson said a total of 331 B.C. students are entitled to the government's half-share grant.

ONE-THIRD
Another 620 students qualified for second-class standing which rates a one-third grant toward tuition fees.

All those eligible are being notified by mail, said Mr. Peterson.

"I am delighted that approximately 29 per cent more students are eligible for these awards this year," he said.

Winners of University of B.C. and Victoria University scholarships will be announced next week, the university results are published.

Greater Victoria students eligible, with their Grade 12 averages are:

Terrence Chew Leung, 1346 Harrison, 94.1; John Edward Chambliss, 513 Transit Road, 93.7; John Hartley Sargent, 233 Henderson, 93; David George Haggert, 1516 Fernside, 92.1; Shirley Doreen Menkes, 2799 Herron, 91.8; Kris Hillis Carlsen, 1671 St. Francis Wood, 91.7; Katherine Mary Bergouch, 2772 Craigdarroch, 91.6; Sandra Anne McKeachie, 2907 Woolton, 91.3; Lynn Pascher, 2224 Blenheim, 91.2.

OFF TO HUSTINGS — Fourteen-month-old Dan Dent has a message for the voters in Vancouver East. The youngster was out-campaigning with his parents, Madeline and Norman Dent, who are seeking election in the two-seat riding as Conservative candidates in the Sept. 12 provincial elections. The Dents believe they are the first husband-wife team to seek election in a single riding in Canadian history. The Vancouver East seats were divided between Social Credit and the CCF in the last legislature. (CP Photo.)

Five Island students also qualify for the scholarship in senior matriculation or Grade 13 standings. They are:

Richard John Williams, Courtenay, 86.7; Jane Marilyn Patterson, Alert Bay, 83.2; Margaret Anne Sharp Courtenay, 83.1; Gretchen Rice, Point No Point, 82.1; Sharileen Ellen Green, Nanaimo, 80.6.

FAULTY RELAY
Electrical Failure Hits City
A faulty electrical relay at the Stratford switching station near Duncan caused a power failure throughout Victoria Thursday which lasted 38 minutes from 4.02 p.m.

With the exception of Langford, Colwood and Mill Bay where electricity comes from Jordan River, all of lower Vancouver Island was blacked out. There were no traffic accidents or other emergencies.

However, inconvenience was high. Suppers spoiled, gasoline pumps wouldn't work and traffic lights were out. Motorists were guided at all main intersections by police.

TRAFFIC FINES
In Saanich police court Thursday:

Thomas William Bergeron, 1108 Rock, $45, and licence suspension for careless driving.
Nadya A. Gibson, 4916 Prospect Lake, $20 for failing to yield right of way when entering highway.
Allan Eng, 2116 Cook, $25 for failing to yield right of way at a stop sign.

Deanna Downey, Sidney, $25 for driving without a licence.
Edwin Vernon Horth, Sidney, $25 for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive.
Maureen G. Spencer, 1723 Denman, $15 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

George Thomas, 45 Halliwell, previously fined for impaired driving, restricted to business driving only for six months.
Alan Edward Brown, 129 Simcoe, $30 and one-month licence suspension for following another vehicle too closely.

NO PREFERENCE FOR PEACE—WILLISTON

'Shackles Off' Columbia Power Soon

The "shackles will be off" Columbia River hydro power with an agreement between Canada and the U.S. "very, very close," Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said Thursday night.

Mr. Williston said critics of the government's power policy think there is "some mythical plan of developing the Peace ahead of the Columbia."

"We are doing all we can to expedite development of the Columbia."

Mr. Williston told a Saanich Social Credit campaign meeting in Lake Hill Women's Institute Hall.

The agreement will be a scheme of general development and pave the way for a water rights licence application by B.C. Hydro, which would develop the Canadian portion of the international hydro-flood control project.

MUST KEEP SECRET
"Why the announcement hasn't come is only a technicality," said Mr. Williston.

"I am honor bound," he said, "not to tell in detail what's going on at Washington-Ottawa negotiations."

Mr. Williston reiterated both

Peace River and Columbia projects must start "as soon as possible."

He isn't trying to put one ahead of the other, he said.

"B.C. would need power from both by 1975 even if there are no further industrial uses."

An application to the B.C. Public Utilities Commission for a certificate of convenience and necessity is imminent on the Peace, he said.

"There are still some questions on transmission that haven't quite been answered yet."

ELECTION ISSUE
Development of northern resources will be the key issue of the election campaign, Mr. Williston predicted.

Such projects are vital to provide jobs, he said.

"The worst thing that could happen if everything (Peace and Columbia) got going together would be about a three-year overlap in cheap industrial power—wouldn't that be a terrible thing?"

Low-cost power is something the province has never enjoyed.

CCF critics who would take over B.C. Electric would find cheap power overnight, he warned.

LESS THAN 4 MILLS
By cheap power, Mr. Williston said he means "two, three, even one and certainly less than four mill power." That would compare with 6½ to 7 mills for Vancouver thermal power at the new loco plant.

Seven mills means 7 cents per kilowatt hour.

Denying any interference to delay Columbia development, water. It's in reserve in favor of the crown."

Mr. Williston pointed to the record of B.C. Hydro chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, who has sat in on all Columbia talks with Ottawa.

As evidence of the good faith of the Wenner-Gren interests backing the Peace, Mr. Williston said "millions of dollars have been spent and they haven't even got a licence to proceed on."

"There is no 'giveaway,' he said. All lands covered in agreements with those interests had crown reserves to cover them.

On the Pacific Northern Railway—"one fifth Wenner-Gren"—said Mr. Williston "we haven't given away one square foot, one tree, one gallon of

Back to School With EATON'S

EATON'S, the Store for Young Canada, is also the Store with More... that's why shopping for school clothes and supplies is so easy at EATON'S. Under one roof you can shop for clothes, shoes, books... everything! Whether your shopping list is for kindergarten tots or for high school teen-agers, you can be sure that EATON'S carries the best selection and the best quality.

Budget-Charge It!

September used to be hard on your household budget... but not any more. Now you can buy all those back-to-school needs, and put them on your EATON Budget-Charge Account... with no down payment. This means low payments are spread out over several months to take the strain off your monthly household budget. If you don't have one now, open your Budget-Charge Account this week.

Make Sure Shoes Fit!

Back-to-school means new shoes for all the children. This means time to head for EATON'S Family Shoe Centre where each pair of children's shoes is double-checked by experienced salespeople to make sure they really fit. Don't settle for anything less than the best for your children's feet... shop EATON'S for their shoes.

Make a Day of It

You can do all your school shopping at EATON'S, and stop here for lunch or a refreshing drink... Visit EATON'S Snack Bar, near the Bargain Basement, and enjoy lunch, and visit the Ice Cream Bar, where you can also order ice cold orange crush, fresh orange juice, or milk shakes.

Don't Carry That Parcel!

There's no need for you to tote heavy packages to your car... EATON'S will do the job for you. Ask the salesman to have your purchases sent along to Parcel Pick-Up. Then you simply drive your car up to the Parcel Pick-Up on Broad Street, and an attendant will put your parcels into the car for you.

The EATON Guarantee

We're not satisfied unless you are. That's why when you shop at EATON'S every purchase is backed by the guarantee... "Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded." Through the years, EATON customers have come to know and respect this guarantee, and they know that EATON'S means just what it says. If you're not happy with a purchase, we will replace it or refund your money, whichever you wish.

Space Capsule Recovered Step Towards 'Spy-in-Sky'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U.S. satellite was on its way to Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule the first success in 13 attempts — the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with Russia.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A navy frogman, bosun's mate Robert Carroll of Keene, N.H., plunged from the helicopter into the ocean to secure a line to the capsule and probably become the first man to touch a man-made object back from an orbit in space. The 22-year-old sailor, braved 12-foot-high swells to fasten the line and the copter hoisted the capsule aboard by a winch.

HOW IT WAS TRACKED

With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C-119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

The air force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C-119s but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the satellite-recovery ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed

ALMOST IN ORBIT

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The X-15 today rocketed an air force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The new mark: 131,000 feet.

Maj. Robert M. White (at right) pointed the sleek black dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until his fuel was exhausted. The four-minute burst vaulted him to the nearly-airless edge of space.

Satellite, Biggest Yet Put in Orbit

U.S. Balloon, 10 Storeys High, Already Bouncing Messages Back

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States sent a giant communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signalled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the United States.

The new space messenger, a balloon high as a 10-storey building, was rocketed up from this missile test centre at 3:39 a.m., MDT.

Slightly more than two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was successfully in orbit.

Then at 7:10 a.m., less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the president was played back at a press conference in Washington.

LOUD AND CLEAR

The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N.J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said:

"This is President Eisenhower speaking."

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo."

"This is one more significant step in the United States

Officials at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said today there is little likelihood of the balloon satellite being seen from here.

"If we are lucky we may just see it over the Olympics," said an observatory spokesman, "and if it is at all observable it will be quite bright."

U.S. scientists say the satellite will be visible to the naked eye at sunrise and sunset between latitudes 47 degrees north and 47 degrees south. Victoria, at 48 degrees, 25 minutes is just slightly north of this band.

program of space research and exploration.

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind."

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests."

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago."

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and other experiments in its program of space exploration."

COLLAPSED IN NOSE

The huge reflector rode collapsed in the nose cone of a three-stage Thor-Delta rocket toward a path intended to take it whirling around the earth in a nearly circular pattern 1,000 miles high, about once every two hours.

That meant not only that the rocket booster had carried out its mission but that the balloon itself, dubbed Echo No. I, had been ejected at the chosen height and had been inflated to carry out its mission as a backboard for bouncing radio signals between distant points.

The 100-foot sphere was designed to prove the feasibility of using satellites for worldwide telephone, radio and television.

BIGGEST SATELLITE

The big ball was the largest, but not the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft. The Russians have launched sputniks almost up to five tons in weight.

Two Soldiers Die in Crash Near Hope

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Canadian army men were killed when their light reconnaissance plane crashed and burned Thursday near Hope, 100 miles east of here.

The plane, one of five headed back for their Rivers, Man., base, touched off a two-acre forest fire when it crashed, hampering search efforts. The men were identified as 1st Lieut. David Hessin, 24, whose father lives in Toronto, and 1st Lieut. Bill Arnold, whose family is at the Canadian joint air training centre at Rivers. Lieut. Hessin was single, Lieut. Arnold married.

The plane was on the first leg of its trip, from Hope to Penticton in the B.C. interior.

Katanga Greets UN Chief

Dag Lands in Try To Settle Crisis

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Dag Hammarskjöld arrived here by air today at the head of 300 Swedish United Nations troops in a bid to settle the international crisis caused by Katanga's secessionist regime.

Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe staged the best military show he could for the UN secretary-general.

More than 100 steel-helmeted Katanga military police paraded with their Belgian officers on the air strip in this provincial capital. Five armored cars lined up at the edge of the runway.

ALMOST DIDN'T LAND

Hammarskjöld and the troops, almost did not land after all.

Tshombe and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as Hammarskjöld's plane circled three times that the secretary refused to land.

Airport officials dashed back and forth from the control tower to find out what was happening.

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjöld he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

Tshombe was appalled and quickly ordered the control tower to allow all UN planes to land.

Although Tshombe three days ago announced he now was willing to accept the UN troops, the order to prevent them from landing never was withdrawn at the airport control tower. This explanation was given by Tshombe himself.

Except for the military precautions at the airport, Elisabethville presented a peaceful scene for the arrival of the first UN troops. Red, green and white Katanga flags flew from every public building. Hammarskjöld's first task is to arrange for the withdrawal of some 1,500 Belgian troops in 15 garrison posts throughout the breakaway province.

Wreck Blocks PGE Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — The engine of a Pacific Great Eastern freight train toppled into a hollow 130 miles north, of here Thursday night when a small wooden bridge was weakened by a forest fire.

The PGE said no one was injured and that crews expected to move fill into the small hollow for a bypass. The line is expected to be reopened in about 24 hours.

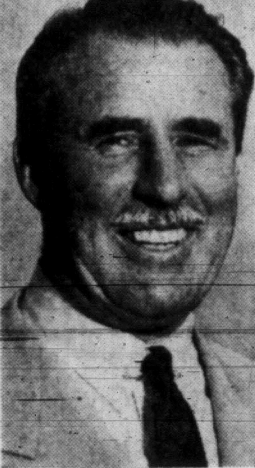

GIANT LINER SAILING CANCELLED

Seamen's Strike Strands Thousands

LONDON (Reuters) — The scheduled sailing of the transatlantic liner Queen Mary was cancelled today as a wildcat seamen's strike bottled up British ports and stranded thousands of tourists.

The Cunard line, owner of the 81,000-ton giant, posted an announcement aboard telling some 1,000 passengers every effort would be made to find alternative transportation to New York.

The liner originally was due to sail Thursday but depart-

Transport Minister Hees "double the size."

Transport Chief Announces Plan On Visit Here

By JOHN MIKA

A $1,500,000 new terminal development will be built at Patricia Bay Airport, Federal Transport Minister George Hees announced here today.

The project, expected to be put out for tenders next spring, will include an $815,000 terminal-control tower building five storeys tall.

Approximately double the size of the present terminal, the new building will be located on the south side of the airfield with access to it from Willingdon Road, at the intersection of Cresswell midway between the Patricia Bay Highway and West Saanich Road.

Additional facilities, such as an aircraft parking apron to handle four Viscount-size airliners, taxiways, lighting, roads and car park, will cost about $750,000.

But there are no plans at present to lengthen the airport's runways, said Mr. Hees.

He made the announcement on the airport tarmac after a Department of Transport Viscount turbo-jet landed while flying him from Kelowna to Nanaimo where he was to address a businessmen's gathering.

PLANS DRAWN

Plans for the new terminal are being drawn up now by Victoria architectural firm Wade, Stockhill and Armour.

The main portion of the building will be two storeys high, surmounted by a narrower portion comprising two additional floors and topped by a glass-enclosed air traffic control tower.

A single-storey building housing government offices required for international traffic — customs, health and immigration — will be linked to the terminal by an enclosed walk.

Construction period is expected to be 18 months. Tenders are to be called "around the latter part of the present fiscal year" which ends in March.

Canada Holds 1-Point Lead In Team Golf

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada took over a slim one-point lead over the United States at the end of the third round of the Americas Cup international golf matches today.

The Canadians broke even in six matches in the morning three-ball sixomes event for three points to maintain their grip on first place with 14 points. The U.S. down a half-point at the midway mark Thursday, added 2½ points for a total of 13 with two wins, one tie and three defeats.

The young Mexican team remained in third place with nine points as it counted 3½ points in the alternate ball matches with three victories and a tie against three losses. Earlier, a rule infraction set the U.S. five holes behind in the early going of its opening match against Canada and Mexico.

A spectator's deck for the public will be established above the main floor on the airfield side of the building to provide a vantage point for viewing aircraft take-offs and landings.

The existing control tower and terminal would be converted to other uses, it is expected.

The transport minister officially opened the rejuvenated Kelowna airport Thursday and stopped here briefly to make his announcement. He was to return here from Nanaimo later today to pick up some members of his party and immediately fly back to Ottawa.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Pace Advance at Toronto

Industrials, buoyed by good half-year reports and speculation in western oils, jumped ahead of a profitable stock market at Toronto today in moderate trading.

Canadian Wall-paper B jumped 3 1/2 to 40 to lead industrials.

After a strong morning advance - profit-taking hit the New York market and prices slipped off.

AT VANCOUVER - trading was brisk with prices stronger during the morning. Fort St. John moved 1,800 at $1.25. United Oil traded 2,500 at $1.25. Cold Lake Pipe sold 3,300 at $3.49. Bethlehem Copper traded 3,000 at 62. Caribou moved 4,200 between 95 and 98.

AT TORONTO, among mines, International Nickel went ahead 3 1/2 to 33 1/2.

Western oils appeared to be losing some of their speculative fascination, although Home B gained 40 cents at $8.40 and Canadian Husky Improved 20 cents at $5.50.

Pacific Petroleum, strong for most of the week, eased 1/2 to 10 1/2.

AT NEW YORK, Canadian stocks were ahead with rises ranging from 1/4 for Canadian Pacific, Granby Mining and International Nickel, to 1 1/4 for Aluminum Ltd. Dome Mines and McIntyre Porcupine rose 1/2 and Hudson Bay Mining 1/4.

AT MONTREAL, the upward trend continued on the stock exchange today in light trading.

Industrial volume was 63,100 shares, mines and oils 117,500 shares.

AT LONDON, the stock market today remained in a buoyant mood. Buying was stimulated by optimism regarding the economic outlook.

Industrials showed further widespread gains but more in the oil sector.

DOUBLE DISTRACTION shapes up for construction superintendent Freeman Nott today. Nurses Marlene Parfitt, left, and Dianne Pryznk looked on as lines were laid out for

MONTE ROBERTS

Well, I see where the football season is upon us, with the British Columbias and the Winnipeg knockings heads and all and here it is not quite quarter to World Series time.

This makes it almighty difficult for Amateur Athletic Analysts such as me, who must put up a knowledgeable front in order to get a word into any conversation apt to spring up these days.

We Amateur Athletic Analysts have a hard enough time thinking up wise-sounding phrases for one sport at a time, without having to be knowledgeable about both football and baseball, all in the same breath.

However, it is possible to hold your own with the experts, if you utter selected statements with an air of wisdom and authority.

Supposing someone in the conversational circle mentions the name of Elmer Fydd, and you do not know for the life of you whether he's a footballer or a baseballer. All you need do is say: "Oh, I guess he's okay, but can he go to the right?"

Your conversational opponents will nod wisely and admit, that is a moot point.

Or if someone says "How about that Elmer Fudd?" you can say: "He's apt to really kick one."

(It is necessary to wear a noncommittal expression during this gambit, as "kicking one" is dandy-o in one sport, and strictly from goonsville in the other.)

"Needs a stepladder and a basket for the high ones," would do nicely for Elmer Fudd, who may be either an outfielder or a pass receiver, because this is true of all but .0001 per cent of the athletes participating in either feet or base ball.

When Elmer Fidd is mentioned, say: "Yes, but can he make the pay-off play?" and you'll keep the conversation rolling, while you earn respect for your savvy.

As for Elmer Fudd, try this: "Experience is one thing, age is another."

But save your best for Elmer Fadd, who, for all you know, may not be a feet or base baller at all, but possibly a jai-alai novice or a tiddly-winks champion.

Say: "Well, at least he tries to go like a hard-nose pro."

Amateur Athletic Analysts, get in there and trite.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The younger section of the Junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for a trip to Cordova Bay.

Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will meet in the Knights of Pythias hall Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. for a program of entertainment.

Earlier this week 350 members visited the George Park for a picnic and dancing on the green.

Branch president R. H. French supervised the games.

Lieut. G. W. Peakman, RCN, leaving Victoria for Halifax, was honored Thursday for his efforts on behalf of the Handicapped Swimming Club of Victoria.

He had been in charge of the physical and recreational training centre at Naden where 78 handicapped children and adults have been allowed to use the swimming pool.

Arthur Burgess, at present with the YMCA in Vancouver, will be returning to Victoria—his home town—Sept. 1 to take up his appointment as physical director at the local branch.

Former physical director, Archie McKinnon, who was injured during a comedy act at Crystal Garden swimming pool last year, will hold the position of aquatics director and retain the ladies' gym classes.

A fine of $225 today was levied on Lee Yon in city police court for keeping a common gaming house at 628 Fisgard.

The charge was placed after police raided the premises in the early hours of July 17 and found a number of Chinese playing mah jong and pai gow or dominoes.

A man who claims to have had direct contact with space "friends" and flying saucers will speak at next week's George King, London, England, editor of the Cosmic Voice, will address a public meeting Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the CCF hall, Courtney Street.

Plans for a Shelbourne St. liquor store have been dropped but a new one will open in Colwood this fall.

Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan said today "plans were dropped for Shelbourne Plaza because of protests from local residents."

"But we are looking forward to getting into the one at Colwood Plaza in October."

The cabinet has declared Oct. 16 to 22 "National Forest Products Week" in B.C. An order signed by Forests Minister Ray Williston says "the economy of B.C. is substantially based upon our forests."

CLOUDY SKIES THREATEN PERSEID OBSERVATION TONIGHT

Star Gazers Ready for Annual Meteor Count

BY DON INGHAM

Victoria's amateur stargazers will be out in force tonight, starting at 9 o'clock, to make a systematic count of the annual "shooting star" display at this time of year.

Weather permitting, of course. Said one disgruntled amateur astronomer today as he glared at the overcast skies: "We've had clear nights every night for almost two months, but the very night there's a job to do we're 'sucked in'."

The natural phenomenon is the annual Perseid shower, occurring when the earth passes through remnants of a long-since disintegrated heavenly body.

Members of Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, will make a systematic, naked-eye count of the falling meteors, and will submit their results to the National Research Council in Ottawa for analysis.

Similar groups in Edmonton, Calgary, Regina and Montreal will make counts, and the pooled results will give an indication of the density of meteors in outer space.

Franklin C. Loehde, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory staff, will have charge of the observation. Original plans called for members to meet on Mount Douglas, but because of the forest closure they will gather instead on Gonzales Hill near the abandoned wartime observation post.

Members of the public will be welcome.

The work to be done will be of value to professional astronomers," Mr. Loehde said, "and the only articles of equipment needed are a pair of eyes, an overcoat, and perhaps a blanket."

Last year the Victoria group turned in the largest pre-hour

total of all five cities taking part.

On a trial observation Thursday night observers counted 130 "falling stars," but more are expected tonight.

Weatherman William Mackie said that despite the inauspicious start to the day, there should be enough clearing, by tonight to make the meteor count possible.

"The air is moist, but the clouds are thin, and should disperse by this afternoon," he said. "By midnight a few bands of clouds will start moving in again."

Temperatures will range between 55 and 75 degrees, he said, and winds will be light. Similar conditions will prevail throughout the weekend.

Reeve Bows to Blast By Builders on Arena

Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele today bowed to Victoria contractors and backed down on his statement that the sports arena, if approved by ratepayers Saturday, would "probably" be given to an outside contractor.

After hearing angry protests from the 120-member Victoria Building Industries Exchange, Reeve Wurtele told the group he would accept "package proposal" bids from local builders.

George Farmer, vice-president of the exchange, said the reeve admitted to him that he had said at a public meeting the proposed arena contract would probably go outside the district.

Mr. Farmer said the reeve and municipal engineer John Graeme originally believed that there was no contractor in Victoria who could do the entire job.

"They had no doubts that Victoria contractors could put up the building," said Mr. Farmer, "but they want one firm to contract for the entire project."

Mr. Farmer said the package proposal price allows local builders to submit a price for the building, six sheets of ice, provision for a second floor and seating for 1,700 to 1,800 "within the municipality's $400,000 budget."

The Exchange plans to write a letter of protest over the reeve's statement despite Mr. Wurtele's change of heart "for the record," said Mr. Farmer.

'We Resented the Implication'

"Members of the Exchange are quite capable of building larger jobs than the arena," he said. "We resented the implication that the work would have to be done by outside contractors."

"We felt that if public money was to be spent, the work should be put to public tender. If the job was given to an outside builder the only local labor used would be a few extra tradesmen."

Mr. Farmer said the Exchange wasn't wholly satisfied with the package price proposal "but it is better than having no opportunity to bid which was the position we were left in by Mr. Wurtele's first statement."

Mr. Farmer estimated that there are four or five firms in Victoria capable of handling the arena project.

Meanwhile, Reeve Wurtele said: "It would be very heartening to the council to find a six or seven to one majority in favor of the proposed Esquimalt sports arena after Saturday's voting."

"I would urge everyone to vote; it is a worthwhile project and would benefit not only Esquimalt but the community of Greater Victoria as a whole."

Reeve Wurtele added that a letter from G. W. Walkey, past president of Victoria Curling Club, in Thursday's Times stated the operating costs for his club during the last fiscal year were $47,973.83.

He did not mention, however, that operating revenue amounted to $71,185.80 — a profit of $23,111.97.

The reeve said he had received a letter from George Pearkes, defence minister and MP for Esquimalt stating that the arena might qualify for Ottawa's latest expansion of the winter works program.

"But I am not quite sure about it as yet," Reeve Wurtele said.

VOTES, NOTES, QUOTES

Famed CCF Name In Liberal Ranks

Eric Winch, son of an old-CCF family, headed by the late Ernest Winch, is one of the latest recruits to the Liberal Party.

The Speaker in the last B.C. Legislature is back in the running.

Hugh Shantz, an insurance agent, was renominated unopposed Thursday night as Social Credit candidate for North Okanagan.

He told a nominating convention at Armstrong the government will soon announce a re-building date for the Shuswap Lake bridge.

B.C. Progressive Conservatives will encourage community entertainment and sports everywhere, says leader Deane Finlayson.

As a beginning "we are pledged to remove the 10 per cent provincial amusement tax," he said in Vancouver.

James A. A. Gorge, indefatigable Oak Bay Conservative candidate, has made 5,200 house-to-house calls in the riding since he began campaigning 18 months ago.

And he is still making them. "Some days I make as many as 110 calls," Mr. Gorge said. "One-legged" Williston talked for 45 minutes clinging to a table Thursday night.

"I thought I was going to get rid of this," said Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, pointing to a cast covering a slashed tendon suffered when an axe slipped two weeks ago on the beach at Parksville.

"But they put it back on for two weeks."

Who says Victoria voters are apathetic?

More than 800 registered at the registrar of voters' office Thursday—last day for registrations. A further 500 notified change of address and nearly 1,400 checked their status.

The office was jammed all day and when it closed at midnight, the total number of new voters registered since last February was estimated at close on 30,000.

During the day upwards of 1,200 phone calls were received. "Phew!" said the staff.

Children's Work At Art Gallery

Summer work by children in Greater Victoria Art Gallery's painting and handicrafting classes will go on display Sunday, Aug. 14 and continue through Saturday.

Exhibits from the painting classes, under the direction of Mrs. Desiree Shoenland, will include mobiles, paper mache work and constructions in various materials as well as the more traditional paintings.

Seven handicrafting students will demonstrate their techniques to the public each afternoon. Their class, under noted city weaver, Mrs. Florence Daniels, has been working in a number of techniques normally restricted to adults.

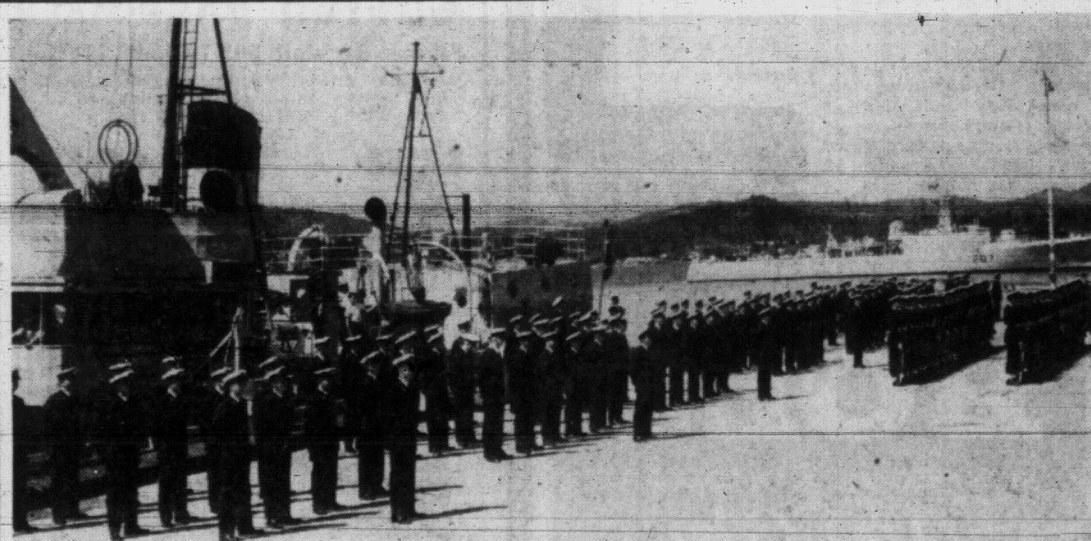

INNER TUBES BANNED AT 3 LAKE BEACHES

Inner tubes, air mattresses and similar floats are banned at Beaver Lake, Elk Lake and Thetis Lake beaches beginning this morning.

Signs have been posted and city parks department officials said the prohibition will be "rigidly enforced."

Meanwhile, four women and three men were hired to assist three staff lifeguards at the beaches.

The measures followed drowning last Sunday of eight-year-old Edward MacMullen who had been using an inner tube at Beaver Lake beach.

FUTURE NAVAL OFFICERS INSPECTED AT HMC DOCKYARD, ESQUIMALT

170 COMPLETE ROTP TRAINING COURSE

Final Inspection for Naval Cadets

Final review and inspection of 170 Regular Officer Training Plan cadets who recently completed their summertime professional training with the RN Pacific command was held at HMC Dockyard Thursday.

Inspecting officer was Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, flag officer, Pacific Coast, accompanied by Capt. Harry Porter, cadet training commander of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron.

Inspection was held on "B" Jetty, with the frigates of the Fourth Squadron, in which the cadets received sea training on the background.

Two major awards were presented. Naval Officer Cadet L. T. C. East, of Vernon, won the Queen's Canadian Sword, awarded to the cadet with the highest marks in his overall training. To Officer Cadet J. W. Joynt, Ottawa, went the Stubb's Memorial Shield, for outstanding achievements in athletic ability and sportsmanship.

The ROTP cadets, from universities and colleges—including the Canadian Services Colleges—across the country, started their summertime training at the Esquimalt naval base late last May. Their first two weeks were spent at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Esquimalt, where they received classroom instruction in navigation. Later they spent two weeks aboard frigates in British Columbia waters, then a six-week cruise to Japan, via the Aleutian Islands.

Quebec Airline Pilots Strike

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — Twenty-seven of Quebecair's 31 pilots went on strike today, forcing cancellation of all but a few of the company's flights.

Arthur F. Garmaise, Montreal lawyer representing the pilots, said in a telegram to the Federal Transport Department that they are striking to support a colleague dismissed "for requesting to be excused from a second flight of eight hours duty after having completed a 12-hour duty period involving 12 take-offs and landings."

Gas Endangers Town

LA PORTE, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this seaport town began dropping on the streets today from what authorities said was gas escaping from a chemical plant. The plant shut down immediately, and the danger was declared ended.

Reject Soviet Charges

LONDON (UPI) — The Big Three Western powers today firmly rejected Russian charges that West Berlin is being utilized for military preparation. In notes delivered in Moscow they charged the Communists with illegal actions in East Berlin and urged the Soviet Union to end them.

Cuba Cuts Travel

HAVANA (UPI) — The Fidel Castro government today cancelled all existing travel permits out of the country for both Cubans and foreigners, except tourists, in a move informed sources said was aimed at cracking down on the mass exodus of anti-Castro elements from the islands.

5 Die in RAF Crash

HURRINGWORTH, England (UPI) — A British Valiant jet bomber crashed in flames near here today, killing five crewmen. First reports said the big four-jet bomber crashed while attempting a landing on an unused airfield outside Hurringworth.

Wreck Blocks PGE Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — The engine of a Pacific Great Eastern freight train toppled into a hollow 130 miles north of here Thursday night when a small wooden bridge was weakened by a forest fire. The PGE said no one was injured and that crews expected to move fill into the small hollow for a bypass. The line is expected to be reopened in about 24 hours.

PNR Hearing Not Decided

The B.C. Public Utilities Commission held two meetings this morning, but did not announce a decision on putting off the date of its Pacific Northern Railway hearing.

Premier Bennett Wednesday said he would ask the PUC to postpone the hearing until after the Sept. 12 election.

"We're still waiting for word from the premier," said Commissioner Percy George before the first session this morning.

Chairman Dr. H. F. Angus said Thursday a formal request was expected from the premier.

Space Capsule Recovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U.S. satellite was on its way to Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule—the first success in 13 attempts—the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with Russia.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A navy frogman, bosun's mate Robert Carroll of Keene, N.H., plunged from the helicopter into the ocean to secure a line to the capsule and probably become the first man to touch a man-made object back from an orbit in space. The 22-year-old sailor braved 12-foot-high swells to fasten the line and the copter hoisted the capsule aboard by a winch.

Slightly more than three hours earlier, the air force had triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its 17th pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

HOW IT WAS TRACKED With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C-119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

The air force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C-119s but scatted clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the satellite-recovery ship Hali Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man-in-space program and the Samos spy satellite.

The Samos is being developed to send back by television what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. Eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

The U.S. thus is the first, as far as is known, to bring back a package from a satellite.

Katanga Greets UN Chief

Dag Lands in Try To Settle Crisis

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (Reuters) — Dag Hammarskjöld arrived here by air today at the head of 300 Swedish United Nations troops in a bid to settle the international crisis caused by Katanga's secessionist regime.

Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe staged the best military show he could for the UN secretary-general.

ALMOST DIDN'T LAND

Hammarskjöld and the troops almost did not land after all.

Tshombe and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as Hammarskjöld's plane circled three times that the secretary refused to land.

Airport officials dashed back and forth from the control tower to find out what was happening.

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjöld he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

Tshombe was appalled and quickly ordered the control tower to allow all UN planes to land.

Although Tshombe three days ago announced he now was willing to accept the UN troops, the order to prevent them from landing never was withdrawn at the airport control tower. This explanation was given by Tshombe himself.

Except for the military precautions at the airport, Elisabethville presented a peaceful scene for the arrival of the first UN troops. Red, green and white Katanga flags flew from every public building.

Hammarskjöld's first task is to arrange for the withdrawal of some 1,500 Belgian troops in 15 garrison posts throughout the breakaway province.

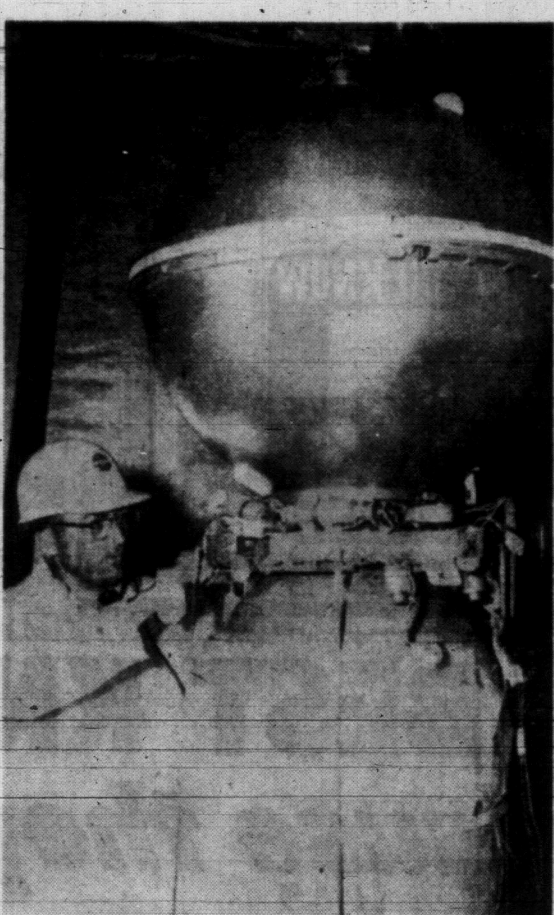

Two Soldiers Die in Crash Near Hope

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Canadian army men were killed when their light reconnaissance plane crashed and burned Thursday near Hope, 100 miles east of here.

The plane, one of five headed back for their Rivers, Man., base, touched off a two-acre forest fire when it crashed, hampering search efforts. The men were identified as Lieut. David Hessin, 24, whose father lives in Toronto, and Lieut. Bill Arnold, whose family is at the Canadian joint air training centre at Rivers.

Lieut. Hessin was single, Lieut. Arnold married.

The plane was on the first leg of its trip, from Hope to Penticton in the B.C. interior.

Giant Balloon Sends Messages Back from Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States sent a giant communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signalled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the United States.

The new space messenger, a balloon high as a 10-storey building, was rocketed up from this missile test centre at 2:39 a.m., PDT.

Slightly more than two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was successfully in orbit.

Then at 7:10 a.m., less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the president was played back at a press conference in Washington.

LOUD AND CLEAR

The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N.J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said: "This is President Eisenhower speaking. 'It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo.'

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration.

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind.

"The satellite balloon which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests.

$1.5 Million Plan Revealed by Hees

By JOHN MIKA

A $1,500,000 new terminal development will be built at Patricia Bay Airport, Federal Transport Minister George Hees announced here today.

The project, expected to be put out for tenders next spring, will include an $815,000 terminal-control tower building five storeys tall.

Approximately double the size of the present terminal, the new building will be located on the south side of the airfield with access to it from Willingdon Road, at the intersection of Cresswell—midway between the Patricia Bay Highway and West Saanich Road.

Additional facilities, such as an aircraft parking apron to handle four Viscount-size airliners, taxiways, lighting, roads and car park, will cost about $750,000.

But there are no plans at present to lengthen the airport's runways, said Mr. Hees. He made the announcement on the airport tarmac after a Department of Transport Viscount turbo-prop landed while flying him from Kelowna to Nanaimo where he was to address a businessmen's gathering.

PLANS DRAWN

Plans for the new terminal are being drawn up now by Victoria architectural firm Wade, Stockhill and Armour.

The main portion of the building will be two storeys high, surmounted by a narrower portion comprising two additional floors and topped by a glass-enclosed air traffic control tower.

A single-storey building housing government offices required for international traffic—customs, health and immigration—will be linked to the terminal by an enclosed walk.

Construction period is expected to be 18 months. Tenders are to be called "around the latter part of the present fiscal year" which ends in March.

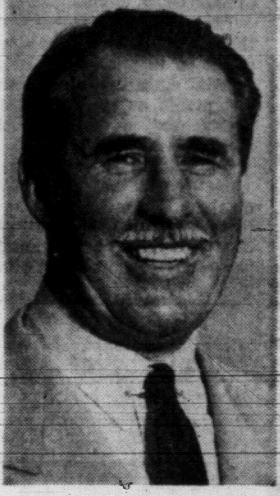

Deputy transport minister J. R. Baldwin said the new facilities will "satisfy Victoria's needs until at least 1970."

Asked if longer runways to handle jet aircraft would be planned for the airport, Mr. Hees replied:

DEMONSTRATE NEED

"You will have your runways extended when there is a demonstrated need for them. That goes for all airports in the country."

"I want to make it clear there is a very adequate air- Continued on Page 22

Canada Holds 1-Point Lead In Team Golf

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada took over a slim one-point lead over the United States at the end of the third round of the Americas Cup international golf matches today.

The Canadians broke even in six matches in the morning three-ball sixes event for three points to maintain their grip on first place with 14 points. The U.S., down a half-point at the midway mark Thursday, added 2½ points for a total of 13 with two wins, one tie and three defeats.

The young Mexican team remained in third place with nine points as it counted 3½ points in the alternate ball matches with three victories and a tie against three losses.

Earlier, a rule infraction set the U.S. five holes behind in the early going of its opening match against Canada and Mexico.

Red Chinese

LONDON (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev is expected to meet with China's leaders this fall to attempt to mend frayed Russian relations, Communist diplomats said today.

The diplomats said Khrushchev's forthcoming visit to North Korea will provide an occasion for the Sino-Soviet summit meeting.

Khrushchev has accepted an invitation from the North Korean government for a visit at the beginning of October.

The apparent absence of a special occasion for the gathering was neither a Korean anniversary nor the homecoming of a Communist leader, which would have underlined the political significance of the trip.
